Introduction

Although the earliest known ancestor of this Lee family lived at Abingdon in Berkshire (now Oxfordshire), from the seventeenth century the Lees were based firmly in the Midlands. The localities mentioned are within fifty miles of Birmingham, Leicester and Northampton.

The Lees were Parliamentarians in the 1640s Civil War, and following those upheavals they found themselves in sympathy with the Protestant Dissenting factions which emerged in the late seventeenth century. For more on the Dissenters refer to Appendix 1.

This was a family of merchants and attorneys, investing in a variety of enterprises. In common with the dissenting movement generally, they attached great importance to education. Although they did not hold high office, they were politically active and public spirited, recognizing that their own success was inevitably linked to the well-being of the community in which they operated.

The starting point for my knowledge of this family was the collected papers of Lyall Hodgson, now deposited in the Nelson Provincial Museum, New Zealand. Lyall had been given access to the work of Dr Henry Lee by the family in England. Without Henry's contribution it is doubtful if I would have any knowledge of the family in the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries.

Since Lyall's time there have been two revolutionary advances in the ease of access to information. The first was the vital records extraction programmes of the LDS church. Every available record has been filmed, indexed and made accessible to searchers world-wide, at minimal cost.

The second innovation, that of the internet, is ongoing. Through web-sites and search engines it is now possible to get information about all manner of historical events - easily, quickly, and cheaply - from the convenience of home. Message boards and mailing lists abound to share advice about research techniques or to seek help. Personal web-pages carrying family histories are mushrooming, and it is increasingly likely that one may stumble on some distant family member who is researching a common thread of ancestry. Genealogists love to share their data, so family trees keep sprouting more and more branches. When to prune becomes a serious question.

Recently I have been contacted by descendants of younger sons of the main family, who continued to live in East Farndon after the senior line removed to Birmingham. I am pleased to acknowledge contributions made by Mike in Leicestershire, Gail in New South Wales, and Susan in Illinois. Alan Langley, local historian in East Farndon, has also assisted.

My awareness of family history stems from my great grandmother, Rebecca Lee Sinclair, nee Hodgson, who lived with us when I was young. My mother knew only that the Lee in her name referred to "two old maids Lee." These would be numbers 125 and 127 in this document, Sarah and Rebecca Lee of Boston, U.S.A., who retained an interest in the fortunes of the Hodgsons in New Zealand through the 1840s. But already by the 1940s the memory of the NZ Hodgsons' indebtedness to their Birmingham Lee cousins had been all but lost. It is a pleasure, therefore, to be able to re-introduce my Hodgson kin to their Lee forebears through this story. In a separate document, I will detail the contributions made by the Lees as the Hodgsons prepared to emigrate to New Zealand in 1842, and during their struggles to re-establish themselves in their new country.37

Midlands Map

Scale: The above map is approx 90km across
Abingdon in Berkshire is 20km off this map to the south from Upper Heyford
Oundle in Northamptonshire is 10km off this map to the east of Corby
Snareston is about 1 km south of Measham (Leicestershire),
Croft is close to Leicester to the south-west

Market Harborough lies just north of the Leicestershire / Northamptonshire border

East Farndon has only just escaped being overtaken by urban expansion, and retains the village atmosphere.

Each square on this map is approx 10km.

Section 1: Descendants of William Lee

First Generation (William Lee 1545 - 1637)

1. William LEE was a grazier who died on the 5th November 1637 aged 92 and was buried in St Helen's, Abingdon.

I am indebted to Jackie Smith, local historian in Abingdon 2013, for much of the following information on William Lee.

He was a Governor of Christ's Hospital of Abingdon which received its founding royal charter from Edward VI in 1553. Governors were elected for life, and William served for 50 years 1587-1637 and as Master on four occasions.

Christ's Hospital of Abingdon was a major force in the affairs of the town, particularly as it was in existence for three years before Abingdon received its royal charter of incorporation in 1556. To be elected a Governor was to occupy a prestigious social and influential position. For at least 300 years it was difficult to tell the two Corporations apart and there are numerous instances where the town's Mayor was also the Master of the Hospital's governing body.

It was not a Hospital in today's sense of the word. In this context the hospital was an almshouse, providing accommodation for 13 poor people, seven men and six women, who received a weekly 'pension' and were provided with their livery - gowns and hoods for the women/gowns and hats for the men. The charity also provided for the poor generally - as funds allowed - in addition to keeping the town's bridges in repair.

At his election to Bailiff in 1581/2 William's surname appears as "Alye" in the Borough Minute Book but a signature is written "Willyam Lee" in August 1582. His occupation is given as 'grasier'. He lived on the "Bury", an old term for the Market Place. On five occasions he was elected Mayor at the annual elections.
In Faringdon Church there is a tablet recording a charitable bequest: “William Lee late of Abingdon, Berks, Gent. By indenture dated April xvi in the 7 yeare of King Charles (1631) gave several things to this church.” Lee’s gift consisted of 17 acres 2 roods 10 perches of land called the Sands, in Faringdon, producing £37 6s. 3d. yearly. The sum of 10s. is paid to the vicar for a sermon on Christmas Day, and bread is given to each poor householder in the township of Faringdon, including Littleworth and Thrupp, and on a certain number of Sundays; 100 lbs. of beef are also divided among the recipients of the Sunday bread.20

Lee’s Charity (Witney): On 1 Aug 1632 William Lee of Abingdon bestowed upon the borough of Witney the sum of 40l. to purchase land, with profits to be used to supply 2d. in bread and 10d. in beef every Christmas eve to 40 poor men and poor women; and to pay an able preacher 10s. to preach a sermon on Christmas day in the afternoon; and to pay 3s.4d. for a drinking for the trustees to reward them for their trouble.47

His memorial tablet (depicted on page 5) in St Helen’s Parish Church, Abingdon, in the form of a family tree, depicts the 17 children, 78 grandchildren and 102 great grandchildren descended from him at the time of his death on 5 Nov 1637 at the age of 92. His will is held at Berkshire Record Office, Reading.

An interior view of the church showing the Lee memorial to the right of the right hand pillar may be seen at http://homepagentlworld.com/stephen.l.thomas/dir4/church7.jpg. Refer to Appendix 7 for additional material about this painting, including an article from St Helen’s Parish magazine.

William married first wife Jane LAPTON, and had 2 sons (other children are detailed in Appendix 7)

2 i. John LEE Refer to page 9
3 ii. Solomon LEE
Second Generation (Children of William Lee)

2. John Lee (William I) was the eldest son of William Lee and Jane Lapton

John married Mary Tisdall and had, among other children as detailed in appendix 7, three sons:

4  i. John Lee (brother in Thomas’s marriage settlement)
5  ii. Thomas Lee I 1618 - 1693 Refer next entry.
6  iii. Anthony Lee (brother in Thomas’s marriage settlement)

An older brother of these three was a William Lee, but as he was not named in Thomas’s marriage settlement it can be assumed that he died young.

A letter from Miss E R Lee [#100 in this pedigree] to Lyall Hodgson in 1952 suggested that Dr Henry Lee [#56] through his study of heraldry, was convinced that Thomas was the son of Solomon #3 above. Unfortunately I have no detail of the evidence used by Dr Lee.

Notes from the marriage settlement of Thomas Lee and Jane Payne (refer page 11), indicate that Thomas had 2 brothers, John and Anthony. William Lee’s tree in Appendix 7 shows that Thomas son of Solomon did not have a brother Anthony, or a brother John, whilst Thomas son of John had both. This causes me to suggest that Thomas I’s father was William of Abingdon’s eldest son John rather than his second son Solomon.

Third Generation (Grandchild of William Lee)

5. Thomas Lee I (John 2, William 1) was born about 1618 and died aged 75 on 14 Dec 1693.11

The burial register reads: Burialls Anno Do[min]i 1693: Buried Mr Thomas Lee Decr ye 17th

Interred in the precincts of this parish Edward his son Decr ye 9.49

At that period a minority of burials read “interred in the precincts”. It may imply interment in a family vault rather than burial in the churchyard, or use of the term interred may refer to non-conformists who declined the traditional burial service. The name Edward is hard to explain, as he survived till 1724. It could be a mistake for one of Edward’s brothers.

Thomas Lee was a lieutenant in Cromwell’s army during the English Civil War. He fought at the Battle of Naseby and was also in the siege of Halifax. Thomas Lee is listed as Lieutenant in Colonel Thomas Grantham’s Regiment of Foot. Two portraits of this Thomas, wearing his steel battle armour, were held in the family in 1980.

In their work, A Cromwellian Major-General, Berry and Lee refer to the difficulty faced by Cromwell in paying for the services of his soldiers. The solution was to issue debentures on parcels of Crown land, available following confiscations from Royalists and the Church. The debentures were to be security for the ultimate payment of agreed wages, but some of them may have been taken up as land grants. Berry and Lee refer to detailed lists in the Public Record Office, which I have not seen, which may throw light on the Lee land at East Farndon. The fact that the house was built after the Restoration may be a reflection of the amount of time it took to extract due payment from the system. A lieutenant’s pay varied between 5/- and 7/- per day.
Thomas’s home in Back Lane, East Farndon, still stands, a grade II protected building, bearing the date 1664. According to the village website there is a story, with at present no known documentary proof, that it was built for the family after restoration of the monarchy as a reward for services to the crown. This is at variance with family information referring to service in Cromwell’s army. Their adherence to the Independent religious persuasion is also typical of a Parliamentarian.

Lee home, Back Lane, East Farndon, July 2012

From English Heritage listed buildings website: Manor House. Datestone 1664/T. Squared coursed lias and brick with slate roof. Originally 3-unit plan. 2 storeys, 3-window range. Flanking windows are 5-light canted bays with stone mullion windows to ground and first floor with leaded lights. Ribbed door to left of centre has moulded stone surround with 4-centred head. 3-light stone mullion to right and two 2-light stone mullion windows above with datestone and armorial tablet between. The centre portion of the facade is brick indicating remodelling. Hipped and gabled roof has 2 octagonal brick chimneys at ridge. C19 and C20 extensions to rear. Fire insurance plate to left bay.

Arms The Institute of Heraldic and Genealogical Studies has listed the arms of Thomas Lee of East Farndon 1681, marking them “disclaimed.” This refers to persons known to have disclaimed their rights to the use of coats of arms or to be called "gentleman" at the time of the Herald's Visitation, either because they were unable to provide the required evidence or pedigree of descent and did not wish to apply for a grant of new armorial bearings, or because they were making use of arms illegally.

Thomas Lee of East Farndon, gent, married Jane PAYNE, daughter of William PAYNE, yeoman of Slawston, Leices, on 3 Jun 1658 in East Farndon. She was born about 1637, died on 12 Aug 1677, and was buried in East Farndon on the 17th. Spellings varied, Jane/Jeane Paine/Payne.

This marriage entry omitted to mention the groom’s father, unlike most others at that period, suggesting that Thomas may have been a widower. A baptism is recorded in East Farndon of Mary, daughter of Thomas and Margaret Lee on 23 Apr 1653, but I have no evidence to link this to “our” Thomas. This is in a group of three entries before the beginning of a new register, which give the impression of being entered retrospectively to remedy omissions. Gentlemen would be more likely to have received such favours. I have not seen the registers prior to 1653 but they could be examined for evidence of Thomas’s parents, or an earlier marriage. The disruptions of the civil wars in the 1640s make the survival of the required records problematic.

Marriage settlement 3 June 1658. Parties: Thomas Lee of East Farndon, Northamptonshire, gent, William Payne of Slawston Leices, yeoman, and Jane Payne, his only daughter and heir apparent In consideration of a marriage to be solemnized between Thomas Lee and Jane Payne, and of a marriage portion of £250, of which £150 had already been paid by Jane Payne, and of a conveyance of lands by William Payne, Jane became entitled to a jointure in lieu of dower [to provide for her possible widowhood] Remainder to Anthony Lee brother of Thomas, and to John Lee another brother of Thomas £400 to be portion for daughter or daughters if Thomas and Jane had no male issue. Comment: Lee, a gentleman, could add to his wealth by marrying an heiress; Payne, a yeoman, benefitted from the prestige of association with a gentleman.
Thomas and Jane had 7 sons and 5 daughters recorded in the East Farndon registers: 49

After Jane's death Thomas Lee of Farndon married Susanna BULL of Isham, probably at Harrington. (Source: notes from Peterborough Marriage Licence January 1681/2).16 This second marriage is confirmed in Thomas II’s will in which he refers to his “mother-in-law Susanna Lee”. Mother-in-law had a wider meaning than it has today, acknowledging that Susannah was not his natural mother. Susanna's burial record has not been found.

Administration of Thomas Lee, gent, of East Farndon, was granted on 5 Jan 1693-4 to Susannah Lee widow and sole executrix, surety Edward Maydwell of Ashley gent.48 PRO#1/034913

An administration document is filed when there is no will, which is surprising for a man of means aged 75. However making a will was often left till a terminal illness was evident, and in this case Thomas may have been taken by a sudden illness.
Lee Families of East Farndon and Birmingham

Fourth Generation  (Great Grandchildren of William Lee)

10. Thomas LEE II (Thomas I\(^5\), John\(^2\), William\(^1\)) was baptised on 5 Nov 1663 in East Farndon, and died on 20 Apr 1702.\(^{11}\) Mr Thos Lee was buried in East Farndon on 20 April.\(^{49}\)

1693: named (Thomas Lee, the younger, of East Farndon, husbandman) in administration of Charles Carter, of East Farndon, as guardian of Charles Carter, aged 11.
Comment: In his father’s lifetime Thomas the younger is described as husbandman, but after succeeding his father he became “gent”.
1702: age on memorial appears to be incorrect, stating 43 instead of 38.

Thomas married Rebecca BRITAIN, daughter of Richard BRITAIN of Oundle,\(^1\) on 20 Sep 1694 in Harrington, Northamptonshire.\(^{52}\) Rebecca was born in 1674, and died on 1 May 1741.\(^{11}\) Rebekah Lee widow was buried on 5 May 1741 in East Farndon.\(^{49}\)

Thomas and Rebecca had surviving 2 sons:

No baptisms to children to Thomas and Rebecca were found in East Farndon, though the registers appear to be well kept. They would have been baptized in an Independent chapel, judging by the insistence on a Dissenting upbringing specified in Thomas’s will. This will suggests that James and Thomas were the only survivors, with James appearing to be the elder.

Will of Thomas Lee, probated 27 Apr 1702.\(^{48}\) PRO#1/034914:

- To wife Rebecca until son James reaches 21, for the maintenance and education of James and Thomas, (only if she remains a widow): his house in East Farndon, and the house in East Farndon occupied by Elizabeth Hipwell widow, and two yard land etc in East Farndon
- To wife, stock of beasts, cattle, corn and grain and all other personal estate not otherwise disposed of subject to the proviso hereafter
- After Rebecca’s death or second marriage the same to brother Edward Lee until James is 21 for the maintenance and education of sons Thomas and James
- Provided that if my wife shall marry a person who goes not go constantly to the worship of God as it [is done?] among Dissenters and does not daily pray and perform other religious duties then Edward Lee shall take sons away and bring them up as he sees fit, and also Edward to have all personal estate except half the household goods.
- Mentions property at Oundle, some occupied by Elizabeth Britton [Rebecca’s mother?]
- If Thomas and James both die under age, Rebecca to occupy the west end of his house and have the little garden and half the orchard (so long as she remains a widow but not otherwise), brothers John Lee, and Edward Lee, and sister Sarah Marston, the wife of Mr Thomas Marston of Stoake Albany to have the rents and profits on the property.
- After wife’s death (children dead under age) house and land to William Lee of Kingston on Thames, (the son of my late brother William Lee) with provisos: to pay £50 to brother John Lee within one year; £50 to Edward Lee within two years; £50 to Sarah Marston within six years; and another £50 to Edward Lee within eight years; property to go to John, Edward and Sarah if William fails in this obligation.
- After the death of his mother in law Susannah Lee widow [ie stepmother] land in which she had an interest to Trustees for the use of the Poor to buy them bread
- To wife new stock and household goods during widowhood, but after second marriage half household goods to wife, other half between two sons, and new stock to Thomas.
- Executrix his wife during her widowhood, then Edward. Signed 10 Nov 1701

Comment: A widow had few rights beyond what was agreed in her marriage settlement. Even her children would be taken away if a second husband was not approved by her brother-in-law.

When the eldest son turned 21 he would inherit the property and responsibility for siblings.
11. William LEE (Thomas I, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 13 Apr 1666 in East Farndon, and died before Nov 1701 leaving a son:

20 i. William LEE of Kingston upon Thames, living 1701 when he was named in his uncle Thomas Lee II’s will. From this we learn that a younger son of Thomas I had left East Fandon, very likely through marrying an heiress and inheriting property at Kingston on Thames.

12. John LEE (Thomas I, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 12 Apr 1668, and living in 1701 when he was named in his brother Thomas’s will. He was probably living away from East Farndon, as it was his younger brother Edward who was given most responsibility for oversight of Thomas’s children.

1684 John Lee, son of Thomas Lee of East Farndon apprenticed to Thomas Barrett, citizen and carrman of London, for seven years.

14. Edward LEE (Thomas I, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 9 May 1671 in East Farndon. Mr Edward Lee was buried in East Farndon on 18 Mar 1723/24. He was aged 51.

Will of Edward Lee, yeoman of East Farndon, signed 8 Feb 1723, proved 2 May 1724 27

- to son Edward [#21] house, home close and appurtenances etc
- to wife during her widowhood, use of house etc, also rents & profits on two yard lands and also on lands which will come to him after death of Elizabeth Ashby, his mother-in-law, to be used for education, maintenance and advancement of the children
- to wife after her remarriage £12 per annum
- to wife the furniture in the chamber over the parlour
- younger children (not named) to be supported by rents, profits etc during wife’s lifetime, then son Edward is to set aside £50 in trust for them when he inherits the house etc.

Trustees: Thomas Lee of East Farndon [nephew, #19], William Allard, Theophilus Green

Rebekah Lee was a witness [his sister-in-law]
Comment: The allowance after remarriage would be income from land held by Mrs Elizabeth Ashby, to which his wife had entitlement. Mrs Elizabeth Ashby was buried 29 Nov 1729.

24 sheep and a heffer in Old Close 10.00.00
All things over seen and forgotten 01.00.00
Witness our hands Tho Beeby, James Hensman £273.01.00
Comment: This is typical of a yeoman’s inventory for the period. The appraisers have gone through the house room by room, so we know there were three bedrooms and three beds. There were two living areas, the Hall and the Parlour, apart from the kitchen. No money is reported beyond the few pounds in his purse, everything is invested in stock. Taken in early spring, it shows that a number of animals have been carried through the winter, with a good supply of “crop” on hand.

Edward married Elizabeth ASHBY in 1698. The register entry is incomplete, stating only the year and the groom’s name. The bride’s name can be inferred from baptisms of her children, and her maiden name inferred from mention of his mother-in-law in Edward’s will. Elizabeth Lee widow was buried on 13 Jul 1738 in East Farndon.

Edward and Elizabeth had 4 sons and 6 daughters recorded in East Farndon registers.

Fifth Generation  (2x Great Grandchildren of William Lee)

19. Thomas Lee III (Thomas II, Thomas I, John, William I) was born in 1695 and died, aged 64, on 31 May 1759. On 3 Jun 1759 Mr Thomas Lee late of Snareston was buried in East Farndon.

Thomas lost money in the South Seas scheme. In 1717 the South Seas Trading Company had been given a monopoly on trade with South America by the English government. Stories of the infinite wealth of the Peruvian and Chilean gold mines swept through Europe and, despite news that Spain was not going to honour the monopoly, the shares soared in value. Then it all crashed because there was no gold, and Spain and England started a war. Many a wealthy man lost his entire fortune, Sir Isaac Newton, among them.

1714 Conveyance to Thomas Lee, gent East Farndon, 2 acres with Hall and yardland in Foxton. This document also mentions William Allard
1730: voted, residence East Farndon
1748: two Thomas Lees, presumably Thomas III and IV, voted at East Farndon, with residences at East Farndon and Snareston.

Thomas III was for a short time headmaster of the Grammar School at Snareston, Leicestershire, not far from East Farndon and was also a master at Marlborough and at Coventry. Pigot and Co.’s 1835 Directory mentions the free school at Snareston, endowed about 1717.

Thomas married Sarah Richards of Croft, Leicestershire, in 1721. Sarah was born in 1697, and died aged 93 on 14 Apr 1790. Mrs Sarah Lee aged 93 of the parish of Tamworth widow of Thos Lee gent was buried in East Farndon on 22 Apr 1790. I do not know why she was “of Tamworth” but possibly her daughter Sarah Bolton lived there.

Thomas and Sarah had 2 sons and 2 daughters:
31 i. Thomas Lee IV 1722-1791 Refer to page 20
32 ii. John Lee 1724-1795 Refer to page 36
33 iii. Sarah Lee was born on 26 Jan 1726, daughter of Mr Thos & Sarah Lee, as recorded in the East Farndon register. This is a birth record only (as were those of her 2 brothers) suggesting that family baptisms had been at an Independent chapel. Being a gentleman, Thomas would have been more aware of the value of having an “official” record of his children’s births. I did not find other families with birth only records.

Sarah is referred to in 1791 in her brother Thomas’ will as my sister Mrs Sarah Bolton, when she and her brother John each received a silver waiter to the value of five guineas, with an urn engraved thereon and the words “In memory of my brother Thomas Lee who died at such a time and at such an age.”

Her husband was probably Richard Bolton, who with his wife Sarah Lee had a son Thomas Bolton born 5 Mar 1757 baptized in Market Harborough Independent.

Nothing further is known of Sarah, but note that her mother was “of Tamworth” in 1790.

34 iv. Arabella Lee, buried 9 Apr 1737, dau of Thomas & Sarah Lee. Nothing further known

21. Edward Lee junior (Edward 14, Thomas I, John, William I) was baptised on 3 Jun 1699 (born May 3?) in East Farndon, and was buried there on 27 Feb 1763.

Edward Lee voted 1748 East Farndon
Will of Edward Lee, yeoman of East Farndon, 1763 #2/040599
- House etc at East Farndon to his wife Mary for life, then between his 4 daughters (named)
- Goods and chattels to be equally divided between his wife and 4 daughters
- Portions already given to daughters Mary and Alice not to reduce their entitlement now
- Executors Richard Wright, brother-in-law and William Peppin, son-in-law
- Signed 23 Mar 1752
- Witnesses Thomas Lee, Sarah Lee (probaby Edward’s cousin Thomas III and his wife).

Edward’s seal displays shield with three coronets, as on Lee memorial in East Farndon church
Edward married Mary WRIGHT by licence on 6 Feb 1723/4 in Harrington, Northamptonshire, (record not seen, provided by another genealogist.) Widow Lee was buried in East Farndon on 28 Aug 1769.

Edward and Mary had 2 sons and 5 daughters recorded in East Farndon registers:

35 i. Mary LEE, baptised 8 Mar 1725, married William PEPPIN on 18 May 1749 at Rockingham, Northamptonshire.
36 ii. Alice LEE, bapt 29 May 1728; married John TILLEY 21 Dec 1752, lived Clipston
37 iii. Elizabeth LEE, baptised 9 Sep 1730, buried 30 Oct 1732
38 iv. Edward LEE, baptised 21 Sep 1732, buried 6 Feb 1751/2, aged 20
39 v. Elizabeth LEE, baptised 30 Jun 1734, married Joseph COLEMAN of Harborough 13 Dec 1758 (Comfort Lee was a marriage witness)
40 vi. Thomas LEE, baptised 25 Jul 1735; buried 17 Apr 1736
41 vii. Comfort LEE, baptised 25 Jan 1737/8; married William COOK 5 Jan 1763.

Edward LEE junior appears to have had no continuing line with the LEE surname.

28. Thomas LEE (Edward 14, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 5 Dec 1712 in East Farndon, and died on 25 Mar 1769, aged 57, and was buried 28 Mar 1769 in East Farndon.

Thomas married Hannah HENSMAN of East Farndon on 29 Jun 1742, in East Farndon. The widow Lee was buried on 19 Dec 1782 in East Farndon.

Will of Hannah Lee, of East Farndon, widow, 1783 Northampton County Record Office  # 008561
- To son Thomas Lee the property he now occupies with Thomas Charles
- To daughter Mary £30 out of personal estate
- To daughter Mary half household good and all her clothes
- Other half of household goods to be divided equally between sons James and Thomas
- Other goods etc on trust – to invest £200 for the maintenance of son James
- Executors John Johnson of Gt Oxendon and William Peppin of Clipston
- Signed 1 August 1780. Sworn 17 Jun 1783, under £300.

Had Mary remained unmarried she would have had to live on £30, whereas £200 was allocated for the maintenance of her brother James. For comment on James see his entry, page 46.

Thomas and Hannah had the following children as recorded in East Farndon registers:

42 i. James LEE 1747 - 1802 (Refer to page 46
43 ii. William LEE baptised 1 Apr 1750, not in mother’s will, presumed died young 44 iii. Ann LEE baptised 29 Jan 1752, not in mother’s will, presumed died young 45 iv. Thomas LEE of Great Oxendon 1753 - 1789 (Refer to page 47
46 v. John LEE baptised 21 Apr 1754, not in mother’s will, presumed died young 47 vi. Mary LEE baptised 5 Oct 1756, not in mother’s will, presumed died young
48 vii. Mary LEE baptised 20 May 1759, married John RAVENS on 28 Nov 1781, both of East Farndon, witness Thos Lee [her brother]

Further descendants of Edward Lee are recorded in Section 4, page 46.

Descendants of Thomas LEE IV (#31) and Dorcas EYRE

Compiled by Mary Skipworth 3 Mar 2016
Section 2: Descendants of Thomas Lee IV

Sixth Generation Part A (Thomas Lee IV)

31. Thomas LEE IV (Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 6, John 2, William 1) was born in 1722 in Daventry, Northamptonshire, the elder son of Thomas LEE III and Sarah RICHARDS.1 He died at the age of 69 on 16 Dec 1791,11 and was buried on 23 Dec 1791 in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham.4 Refer to pages 18 and 62 for his two memorials.

The East Farndon register records: Thomas ye son of Mr Thos & Sarah Lee was born March 13 1722. The birth was officially recorded, but no there is no mention of a baptism.

Thomas IV was born shortly after his father had suffered a set-back from the South Seas Bubble. Prior to 1760 he was an attorney at Market Harborough, the market town close by East Farndon where his family had resided for generations. About this time he started to do business in Birmingham, his first office being at the Johnson's Head, Friday Street. He may have split his time initially between Market Harborough and his brother John's house in Birmingham. Around 1765 he purchased the newly-built house at 18 Newhall St, Birmingham, (demolished about 1960) which was to house the firm for more than 130 years. 1777-1791 steward of Birmingham Manor.5, 6 In 1777 he signed as constable the list of men in East Farndon liable for militia service.

Thomas is listed as a subscriber to several books: The Family Expositor by Philip Doddridge 1745 (a paraphrased New Testament); Sermons Vol 2 by John Holland 1753; Practical Observations in Physick - How to preserve health by Simon Mason 1757.

His will recommends to his children the practice of piety and virtue, that they live in peace and harmony and behave dutifully and respectfully to their mother. He leaves his house at Edgbaston to Dorcas for life, then to son Thomas. Dorcas to have the plate, household goods and furniture plus £50 cash. He confirms to his widow her estates at Long Buckby and Harrington, value £200 p.a. Refers to farm at Harrington which according to his marriage settlement is to be held in trust for Dorcas’ life, then to go to George, and which he may use as dower when he marries, provided he remains in good and solvent circumstances. He refers to another portion of Dorcas’ father’s estate not settled on her but which Thomas had paid £1200 pounds for, also to go to George on the same conditions. He leaves son Thomas a farm at Long Buckby currently rented for £142 p.a.; £4000 to son George; rents from Birmingham properties to Mary valued at £139 p.a. Silver waiters engraved with his name, age and date to brother John and sister Sarah Bolton.44

Thomas married as his first wife Mary BROGDEN who died on 25 Mar 1755 aged 32.11 bur 1 Apr.49 Thomas Lee (gent, parish of Market Harborough) married as his second wife Dorcas EYRE (parish of Long Buckby) by licence on 24 Feb 1757/8 in Long Buckby St Lawrence, Northamptonshire (witnesses Thomas Eyre and John West).23 Dorcas was born in 1733, died aged 74 on 16 Dec 1807,11 and was buried on 22 Dec 1807 in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham.4

Dorcas’ will 5 April 1796 left her servant furniture to the value of £5, and an annuity of 52 shillings per annum; a large silver waiter (a serving tray) to George, a silver coffee pot and stand to Thomas; other silver divided between 2 sons; other furniture, books, china between sons and daughter; wearing apparel, watch and rings to her daughter; £20 to son-in-law Rev John Coates for a ring. The interest on the residue to Mary for life, then to any children of Mary’s, or failing them to her other grandchildren. In a codicil 3 Aug 1800 she revoked the legacy to Rev Coates and tightened the trustee’s control over Mary's inheritance.44

Thomas and Dorcas’ children were:

49 i. Mary LEE 1759 - 1844
50 ii. Thomas LEE V 1760 - 1840
51 iii. George LEE 1762 -
52 iv. George Eyre LEE 1763 - 1847

Seventh Generation Part A (Children of Thomas Lee IV)

49. Mary Lee (Thomas IV, Thomas III, Thomas II, Thomas I, John, William) was born on 7 Mar 1759, baptised on 5 Apr 1759 at the Independent Church, Market Harborough, Leicestershire, and died aged 84 on 15 Feb 1844 in Edgbaston, buried 20 Feb 1844, Vault 18, Old Meeting, Birmingham.

Several visits to Mrs Coates prior to their departure for New Zealand in 1842 are reported in Hodgson family letters. She placed in Eyre Lee's hands the sum of £50 to accumulate till Rebecca Hodgson (#132) was 21, which was very generous considering that her relationship to Rebecca was second cousin once removed.

Her will proved in 1844 requested that her funeral be as plain as possible, and she has no memorial in the Old Meeting Burial Ground. She charged her nieces with the responsibility of distributing her chattels to those most in need among her relatives. Since her nephew Thomas Yate Lee was her main beneficiary, it is assumed that she had no children. Refer to Appendix 6.

Mary married Rev John Coates (1762-1836) on 28 Aug 1789 at St Phillips, Birmingham. John was Minister of the Old Meeting, Birmingham from 1785 to 1801, but marriages could only be performed by licensed clergy of the Anglican Church, a matter which was much complained of by the Dissenters. This would be the reason why their marriage was recorded at the Anglican Cathedral.

In the Birmingham riots of 1791 the Old Meeting House was burnt down, and Rev Coates’ house was plundered. Thomas Lee was a seat holder in the Old Meeting at this date. The rebuilt chapel accommodating 1100 worshippers was opened on 4 Oct 1795, Rev Coates preaching that afternoon. Thomas Lee gave £50 to the rebuilding fund, John Lee gave 5 guineas.

50. Thomas Lee V (Thomas IV, Thomas III, Thomas II, Thomas I, John, William) was born on 13 Jun 1760, and baptised on 6 Aug 1760 in the Independent Church, Market Harborough, the elder son of Thomas Lee IV and Dorcas Eyre. He died at the age of 79 on 2 Jan 1840, at his house in Hagley Road, and was buried in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 62 for his memorial inscription.

He was an attorney in the firm founded by his father, at 18 Newhall Street, Birmingham, retiring in 1825. The firm’s name changed as partners came and went, e.g. Lee and Shipton (dissolved 1797); Lee and Corrie (dissolved 1815); Lee and Son (1815); Lee Son and Hunt (1820).

According to Broadridge, “Thomas Eyre Lee was an attorney and a committee member of the Birmingham Canal Navigations from 1791 to 1840.” From the dates quoted there appears to be confusion of father and son, and probably both were involved.

1831: Thomas Lee of Edgbaston voted at East Farndon re house and land occupied by Thomas Coltman.

Will made 30 Dec 1837, left over £1000 each to his daughters Constance, Ann Jemima, Jane Caroline and Sarah and his leasehold property at Hagley Road Edgbaston, also all his plate, linen, books, furniture, china, pictures, wine, carriages and pony. They also shared 15 canal shares. Property at East Farndon, Wharstock, Kings Norton, Newhall St, Yardley, went to son Thomas; son Henry, Doctor of Physik, received property at Snow Hill B’ham, £1600 in cash and had all debts to his father forgiven; son John Yate received property in County Salop from his mother’s marriage settlement, leases in St Charles St, B’ham; 19 guineas to his assistant clerk.

Thomas married Lydia Keay on 9 Dec 1788 in Whitchurch, Shropshire. Lydia was born in 1767, and died at the age of 65 on 20 Nov 1832. She was buried on 28 Nov 1832 with her husband in the Old Meeting Burial Ground, Birmingham.

51. George LEE (Thomas IV 31, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 15 Mar 1762 at the Old Meeting, Birmingham; presumed to have died young.

52. George Eyre LEE (Thomas IV 31, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was the younger son of Thomas LEE IV and Dorchas EYRE. His baptism at the Old Meeting, Birmingham is recorded George Eyre Lee 21 Nov 1763. He died on 28 Dec 1847 at Edgbaston, and was buried in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 60 for his memorial inscription (age 77 instead of 84).

1799: of Easy Row, Birmingham - baptism of William Henry (wife mis-recorded as Harriet)
1812: one of the directors of Lench’s Trust
1820: low bailiff of Birmingham, as was his uncle, John Lee in 1763. This role was traditionally filled by Presbyterians/Unitarians. 9
1826: party to deed re land at Whitchurch (possibly property occupied by Ann Jemima Lee). 32
1827: retired from partnership with his son and brother-in-law as iron merchants
1833: assignment from George Eyre Lee of Edgbaston, gent., to Thomas Lee of Edgbaston, esq., of leasehold land and premises in Newhall Street. 33
1835: Trustee, Birmingham Savings Bank [Aris’s Birmingham Gazette]
1839: chair Birmingham Provident Society [Aris’s Birmingham Gazette]
1841: age approx 70, independent, living at Edgbaston with Charlotte Lee age approx 45. This may be the Lee family resident at “The Beeches” Edgbaston, a house built c 1830, and later incorporated into the Midland Nerve Hospital, still standing in 1980. Adjoining are, or were, Lee Bank Road, Lee Mount, Lee Crescent. Lee Bank appears to have been incorporated into the A4540, to the south-east of its intersection with the A456.

1843: The Hodgson family visited “Uncle George” before leaving Birmingham. He is designated “gent” on his memorial, and the Hodgson letters give the impression that it was hoped some assistance for the emigrants might be forthcoming from George. In reporting George’s death to her relatives in New Zealand, on 29 March 1848, his sister-in-law Rebecca Lee remarked: He often enquired about you and your family, and was very interested. Will made 15 July 1840, refers to the will of his late father Thomas Lee; also refers to a deed signed in 1814 between his brother, himself and his wife; mentions his daughter Charlotte Anne Lee and his son William Henry Lee, but not his son George Cosby Lee who predeceased him. 44

George married Charlotte Ann STEWART, daughter of John STEWART, of Borrowstonness Scotland, and Ann, on 20 Sep 1793 in Edgbaston, Warwickshire. Charlotte died on 10 Jan 1825, and was buried on 15 Jan 1825 aged 55, with her parents, brother and husband (plot 2 in 3rd row), in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 60 for her memorial inscription.

Their children were:

64  i. Charlotte Ann LEE 1794 - 1860
    Refer to page 26
65  ii. George Cosby LEE 1796 - 1838
    Refer to page 26
66  iii. William Henry LEE 1799 - 1858

Eighth Generation Part A (Grandchildren of Thomas Lee IV)

53. Thomas Eyre LEE (Thomas V 50, Thomas IV 31, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 13 Nov 1789 and baptised on 15 Jan 1790 at the Old Meeting, Birmingham, the elder son of Thomas LEE V and Lydia KEAY. He died aged 62 on 20 May 1852 and was buried in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 61 for his memorial inscription.

1813: Attorney with family firm, joined his father in partnership
1825: Lee and Hunt
1832: Lee Hunt and Adams
1838: Thomas Eyre Lee
1841: attorney, age approx 50, residence Warstone Lane, with Rebecca his wife, Thomas Yate 20, Constance 16, Jane Margaret 14, Elizabeth 12, Alice 10, a governness and 5 servants, also Rebecca Hodgson 10, Sarah Hodgson 7, Mary Ann Hodgson 5, Eliza Hodgson 4 (wife's nieces).
1843: Law List: Counsel Thomas Lee 9 Inner Temple Lane 17 June 1823
1844: Lee Pinson and Best
1845: on platform at Mayor's meeting of 8000 in Birmingham in favour of free trade
1851: residence Camden Lodge, Warston Road with wife and 4 children and 4 live in staff

The postal address for letters from New Zealand was simply "Camden Lodge, Birmingham". The house had been built in 1824 by Thomas Eyre Lee, in the area then known as Camden Hill. The house was reached by a long drive running south off Warstone lane, which was widened later in the 19th century and became part of Tenby Street. Today, the area is part of Birmingham's Jewellery Quarter. It appears that Camden Lodge was demolished before 1860.

Eyre Lee had many business interests, and travelled frequently to London and elsewhere. Some of the directors of the New Zealand Company were known to him personally, and this may have influenced his decision to finance the Hodgsons to New Zealand to make a fresh start.

Thomas Eyre Lee's involvement in the Birmingham Canal Navigations has been referred to in his father's notes above. He has been described as "the driving force behind the Birmingham & Liverpool Junction Canal and was involved in other attempts to improve water communications with Birmingham." In 1825 he applied to Parliament for an Act in connection with the Birmingham and London Junction Canal, including a list of subscribers some of whom were later shown not to be genuine. Lee was censured by the Speaker for misleading the House of Commons.

His will, made in 1826, gave all his property to his wife Rebecca, who was to be sole executrix. Witnesses included his father Thomas Lee, and his partner Harry Hunt. It was re-signed in 1828 and again in 1832, with no alteration. A codicil was added in December 1848 appointing his friend William Bolton of Birmingham, timber merchant, as an additional executor and granting him a legacy of nineteen pounds nineteen shillings. Upon his death in 1852 both executors renounced, and administration was granted to Thomas Yate Lee, his son. Thus the lawyer who had no doubt drawn up many complex wills and trusts in his time, himself made the simplest of wills. It must have been somewhat unusual for a man with considerable investments to leave his wife in sole charge, at least under the earlier version of the will. By the time he died Rebecca had only 3 months to live herself, so probably was no longer capable of running his affairs. But Eyre’s action here seems to confirm my view of Rebecca, expressed in my Hodgson story, “She was shrewd and intelligent, forceful and decisive, and above all, intensely loyal [to her brother William].” We also see here the outcome of the Dissenting community’s openness to the education and advancement of women.

Eyre married his second cousin, Rebecca HODGSON [#120, page 41], daughter of Benjamin HODGSON and Rebecca LEE [#114], by licence on 4 Apr 1818 in Stoke Newington Parish church, Borough of Hackney, London, witnesses Henry Lee M.D., Britannia Lee, and another illegible. Rebecca was born on 28 Jul 1785 in the Parish of St Gregory, London. She died on 12 Sep 1852, and was buried with her husband in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. "Rebecca Lee, late of Camden Lodge Warston Lane, widow of Thomas Eyre Lee was buried in New Vault No 1, adjoining that of Mr John Lee, on Friday the 17th day of September 1852. Aged 67 years." Refer to page 61 for her memorial inscription.

Their children were:

67 i. Thomas Yate LEE 1819 - 1872 Refer to page 27
68 ii. Mary Rebecca LEE 1821 - 1897 Refer to page 27
69 iii. Lydia LEE 1822 - 1904 Refer to page 27

54. Lydia LEE (Thomas V30, Thomas IV31, Thomas III19, Thomas II10, Thomas I5, John2, William1) was born on 3 Oct 1790, and baptised on 20 Nov 1790 in the Old Meeting House, Dudley, Worcester. She died unmarried, aged 21, on 3[sic] Dec 1811 and was buried on 6 Jan 1812 in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 62 for her memorial inscription.

55. Mary LEE (Thomas V30, Thomas IV31, Thomas III19, Thomas II10, Thomas I5, John2, William1) was born on 9 Oct 1791, and baptised on 24 Jun 1794 in the Old Meeting House, Dudley, Worcester. She died at the age of 16 on 2 Jul 1808 and was buried in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 62 for her memorial inscription. The burial register gives her age as 18.

56. Henry LEE (Thomas V30, Thomas IV31, Thomas III19, Thomas II10, Thomas I5, John2, William1) was born on 7 Jan 1793, and baptised on 24 Jun 1794 with his siblings Mary and Constance. He died unmarried at the age of 76 on 10 Jul 1869 and was buried in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 62 for his memorial inscription.

M.D., medical practitioner; genealogist of the Lee family.

98. Thomas Oliver LEE  (Thomas Grosvenor 83, Thomas Yate 67, Thomas Eyre 53, Thomas V 50, Thomas IV 31, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 17 Jul 1876 in Edgbaston. He died on 28 Jul 1942 in Birmingham, as result of a World War II air raid on Birmingham. 1876: the name Oliver probably asserts the family's support for Oliver Cromwell. 1903: admitted to the Law Society 1905: joined the firm of Lee, Musgrove & Co. of Birmingham. On the Board of several Birmingham hospitals. Thomas married Phyllis Hornblower MARSTON, daughter of William York MARSTON and Alice HORNBLOWER, on 22 Aug 1908 in Birmingham. Phyllis was born on 3 Apr 1885 in Birmingham, and died there in 1958. 1932 serving sister in the Order of St John, 1941 promoted to sister. Their children were:

103 i. Margaret Hornblower LEE was born on 17 Sep 1910 in Birmingham and died in 1966. She was married on 17 Sep 1931 in Birmingham to the Rev Ronald Maysey VERITY. He was born in 1901, a twin. They had 3 sons and 2 daughters.1

104 ii. Thomas Marston LEE was born on 23 Feb 1913 in Birmingham and died in 1972. Solicitor in family firm. He was married on 10 Jun 1939 in Auckland, NZ, to Fiona Margaret MacKENZIE, born Auckland 27 Aug 1914, died Birmingham 4 Mar 1998. J.P. Refer to Appendix 5 for notes on the MacKenzieys. They had 3 sons.

105 iii. Ruth Alice LEE was born on 6 Sep 1917 in Birmingham, a twin. She was married on 7 Mar 1942 in Birmingham to Kenneth Clutha Edward MacKENZIE (brother of Fiona above) who was born on 6 Jan 1916 in Auckland. They had a son and a daughter.

106 iv. Brenda Winifred LEE was born on 6 Sep 1917 in Birmingham, a twin. She was married on 14 Sep 1940 in Birmingham to Arthur Richard BOWEN. They had 2 sons.

107 v. Rachel Clare LEE was born on 20 Apr 1922 in Birmingham.1

99. Clara Winifred LEE (Thomas Grosvenor 83, Thomas Yate 67, Thomas Eyre 53, Thomas V 50, Thomas IV 31, Thomas III 18, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 2 Dec 1878 in Edgbaston, and died in 1962. 1881: aged 2, at home with parents at Edgbaston. Clara married Reginald WIGHT on 28 Sep 1909 in Stourbridge. They had no children.1

100. Emma Rosalind LEE (Thomas Grosvenor 83, Thomas Yate 67, Thomas Eyre 53, Thomas V 50, Thomas IV 31, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 10 Jan 1884 in Edgbaston. She died unmarried in 1959 in Smethwick RD, aged 75. She was in clerical orders. She corresponded with Lyall Hodgson in 1952 from Kinver, and 1953 from West Swansea.

Stephen married Eleanor Gill WELCH of Handsworth on 1 May 1915 in Cambridge, Cambridgeshire. She died about 1963, leaving her estate to Newnham College Oxford, after life interest to children:

108 i. Lucy Winifred LEE was born on 18 Sep 1917.1

109 ii. John Steven Grosvenor LEE was born in 1919. BA (Oxon); Major, King's Shropshire Light Infantry World War II, killed in action on 8 Feb 1944, at Anzio, Italy. Unmarried.1

110 iii. Roger Edward LEE, MA, BM, BCh 1920-1984, Anaesthetist, Birmingham.9
Section 3: Descendants of John LEE

Sixth Generation Part B (John Lee 1724-1795)

32. John LEE (Thomas III19, Thomas II10, Thomas I5, John2, William1) was born on 2 Sep 1724, the younger son of Thomas LEE III and Sarah RICHARDS (page 16). The East Farndon register has an entry under 1724: John son of Mr Thos & Sarah Lee was born Sep 2, but no mention of where born or baptized.49 He died on 10 Jul 1795 aged 70, and was buried on 14 Jul 1795 in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 63 for his monumental inscription. His will, page 68, mentions sons John and James, daughters Sarah, Rebecca and Britannia, nephew Thomas [850], wife Mary, and sister-in-law Hester Bradshaw.44 He also mentions the portrait of his ancestor, the hand worked chair made by his wife (see below), and Birmingham Canal shares.

John Lee was a Unitarian, a button manufacturer and American merchant of 115 Snow Hill, Birmingham, and finally of Handsworth, in Staffordshire.1

Button collecting has become a serious hobby, especially brass buttons from military uniforms. It is possible that buttons manufactured by John Lee could still be identified, though I have not pursued this line of enquiry. Try www.britishbuttonsociety.org. An overview of button manufacturing in Birmingham is included in Appendix 8.

The first home of the Birmingham Library [a private subscription library - refer Appendix 4] was in John Lee's house, at Snow Hill. His son John [aged about 21 at that time] had the care and management of the books, which were exchanged every morning between the hours of nine and ten. As the number of books increased a bookcase was made, fitted up with sliding shelves, on which they were kept until 1782, when the library was moved to the Swan Yard. This bookcase from the Lee household was presented to the Library by a family member many years afterwards. In 1962 it was exhibited in the Margaret Street premises.10 This involvement with the library fits with the emphasis that the Dissenters placed on education, a philosophy which was still in evidence among John's Hodgson descendants in New Zealand a century later.

The Dictionary of National Biography has an entry for “John Lee, 1733-1793, ............ a friend of Priestley.” Given Priestley’s involvement with the Birmingham Library [refer Appendix 4] it seemed possible that this entry was “our” John Lee. However, following correspondence with the Birmingham City Library and with Dr R J Hetherington I am assured that the Dictionary entry is for a different man. Priestley has another link with this family as a relative of “our” John Lee’s granddaughter-in-law, Agnes Tate [120].37

John married Rebecca HORBLOWER of Kidderminster on 26 Apr 1748 in Halesowen, Worcestershire.1 24 Rebecca was baptised on 6 Jul 1721 in St Mary's, Kidderminster, Worcestershire, daughter of John HORBLOWER and Hannah TAYLER.25 She died on 2 Apr 1775, and was buried with her husband in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Refer to page 63 for her monumental inscription. Refer to page 72 for details of her father’s will, and a Hornblower family chart.

John and Rebecca’s children were:

111  i. Sarah LEE 1749 - 1832 Refer to page 38
112  ii. Thomas LEE 1750 - Refer to page 38
113  iii. Hannah LEE 1751 - Refer to page 38
114  iv. Rebecca LEE d.1800 Refer to page 38
115  v. Britannia LEE 1756 - 1837 Refer to page 39
116  vi. John LEE, junior 1758 - 1840 Refer to page 39
117  vii. Joseph LEE 1760 - Refer to page 39
118  viii. James LEE 1765 -.before 1828 Refer to page 40
Rebecca’s dowry included a tapestry chair with her name and the date, 1738, stitched in the corner. She must have completed it when only 17 years old.

This chair passed by family wills to her daughter Rebecca [#114], wife of Benjamin Hodgson, then to her eldest daughter Sarah Lee [#111], and then to Mary Hodgson [#121], her granddaughter.

The Hodgson line having terminated in England with Mary's death, the chair passed down through the Thomas Lee family and was finally sold to the City of Birmingham in 1942 by Phyllis Hornblower Lee after the death of her husband Thomas Oliver Lee [#98]. Rebecca Hornblower was 4x gt aunt to both of this couple.

In 1995 the chair was displayed at Aston Hall, Birmingham, and appeared in excellent condition following restoration, including replacement of the legs, carried out on behalf of the museum.13

John [LEA] married as his second wife Mary BRADSHAW 21 Jan 1777 at Hartlebury, near Kidderminster,3 or at Stafford.24 John referred to “my sister-in-law Hester Bradshaw” in his will (page 68). Mary was born about 1724, died on 28 Oct 1806, and was buried with her husband in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham.4

Deed 20 Dec 1802 of Mary Lee of Birmingham, widow of John Lee, buttonmaker and formerly Mary Bradshaw, Hester Bradshaw of Birmingham spinster, Thomas Lee of Birmingham gent, John Lee of Birmingham merchant, and James Lee of City of London, merchant. This deed links Mary with her deceased husband, her sister, her husband’s nephew Thomas, and her stepsons John jnr and James.31
Lee Families of East Farndon and Birmingham

Seventh Generation Part B (Children of John Lee)

111. Sarah LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born about 1749 and died unmarried on 13 Oct 1832. She was buried aged 85, on 20 Oct 1832 in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. Her will, [Appendix 6], refers to her brother John, sister Britannia, and nephews and nieces JF Lee, his wife and daughter, Rebecca [Mrs T E] Lee, William Hodgson, Mary Hodgson. She also mentions portraits of her father and gt gt grandfather, and 3 Birmingham Canal shares. She was probably the “Mrs” S Lee of Easy Row, Birmingham to whom letters were written by her brother James Lee. Easy Row, demolished in the 1960s to make way for the inner ring road, was in the same quarter as her father’s residence in Snow Hill and her uncle’s in Newhall Street and Camden Street.

The image is of a house in Easy Row (since demolished) to give an impression of the area, but is not necessarily the particular house used by the Lees.

Note that George Eyre Lee (#52) had earlier lived at Easy Row, possibly in the same house.

112. Thomas LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 31 Oct 1750 in Birmingham 2 but died young.1

113. Hannah LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 29 Dec 1751 in Birmingham.2 Not mentioned in the family archive,1 presumed to have died in infancy.

114. Rebecca LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) born about 1754 (year calculated from burial age). She was buried on 8 Sep 1800 in Goodman’s Fields [No 16, distance 17] burial ground, Presbyterian age 46 of Newington Green, fee 9/-. Will proved PCC Sep 1800 probate £2000 [refer to page 69]. Rebecca married 1780, Benjamin HODGSON, widower, of London. He died on 3 Jan 1796 in London, buried 8 Jan 1796, in Goodman’s Fields [no 16 distance 17] Presbyterian burial ground, Stepney, London;59 age 50 of Edmonton, will proved PCC Jan 1796. Benjamin was a business partner of her brother James, a leatherseller and livertyman of the Glovers’ Company, City of London, formerly of Bradford. Benjamin Hodgson and descendants are the subject of a separate paper.37

Their children were:

119  i. Benjamin Lee HODGSON 1782 - 1785 Refer to page 41
120  ii. Rebecca HODGSON 1785 - 1852 Refer to page 41
121  iii. Mary HODGSON 1786 - 1864 Refer to page 41
122  iv. William HODGSON 1789 - 1848 Refer to page 41
123  v. Benjamin HODGSON 1792 - 1815 Refer to page 42
124  vi. James HODGSON 1794 - after 1818 Refer to page 42
115. Britannia LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 19, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 20 Dec 1756 in Birmingham. She died unmarried in 1837 in Newington Green, Middlesex and was buried on 18 Mar 1837 at Bunhill Fields (vault 13/58 opened). Will proved PCC Jun 1837, probate £4000, refer page 69.

1780s supported her sister Rebecca at her confinements at St Paul’s churchyard and later at Edmonton, but it is not clear when her permanent home removed from Birmingham to London. 1796 after the death of Benjamin Hodgson, resided with Rebecca at Newington Green, possibly sharing the property with brother James’ wife and son. 1800 appointed guardian, with her brother James, of sister Rebecca’s children 1800 a letter 14 from Britannia to her sister Sarah describes how she and James decided to summon a surgeon to the house for a post-mortem examination of her sister’s body because they were uncertain of the exact cause of her death. Stress seemed to be placed on the finding that her lungs were in perfect order, her immediate problem being a burst vessel in the stomach. At a time when many ladies would have been thought too “sensitive” to discuss such matters, these sisters seem remarkably modern in their quest for knowledge. 1837 buried with her brother James in the family vault at Bunhill Fields. Britannia is remembered as a frequent helper in family crises, and in 1980 I was shown the “Britannia chest” where articles were stored in readiness for her visits.

Newington Green Unitarian Church

From the seventeenth century Newington Green had been a haven for dissenters. The Unitarian Chapel at the north side of the green, built in 1708, still stands, and is the oldest non-conformist church in the UK still in use for worship. In 1805 the village was still largely surrounded by farmland, but in the mid-nineteenth century it changed rapidly, influenced by the advent of the North London railway.

116. John LEE, junior (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 20 Feb 1758 in Birmingham, and died on 3 Aug 1840 in Boston, Massachusetts, USA. Will of John Lee of Boston, Massachusetts, USA 30 Nov 1840 - refer to Appendix 6.

In his youth he was one of the founders of Birmingham Library in 1779 and its first librarian. He was “of Yardley” in 1798 when he subscribed to the tontine for the Birmingham Public Library, refer to Appendix 3, page 65. Developed merchant interests in Boston, Massachusetts, and settled there before 1812. 1840 death notice: “On the 3rd ult. (i.e. 3 August) at Boston, Massachusetts, aged 82, Mr John Lee, formerly a merchant in this town.”

John married Sarah FRANCIS daughter of John FRANCIS and Jane in 1785. Sarah was baptised on 21 Jan 1761 in New Meeting House, Unitarian, Moor St, Birmingham and died 9 Jun 1822 in Boston. She was buried initially in tomb 112, Central Burial Ground, Boston and reinterred in 1836 in plot 550 Rose Path, Mount Aubourn cemetery, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Their children were:

125 i. Sarah LEE 1785 - 1849 Refer to page 42
126 ii. John Francis LEE 1789 - 1869 Refer to page 43
127 iii. Rebecca LEE 1791 - 1874 Refer to page 43
128 iv. James LEE 1792 - 1800 Refer to page 44

117. Joseph LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 21 May 1760 in Birmingham, but died young.
118. James LEE (John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 11 Jan 1765 Birmingham, and buried on 13 May 1812 at Bunhill Fields (vault 12/58 opened) aged 48.

James was a leatherseller and liveryman of the Leatherseller's Company, London, in partnership with his brother-in-law Benjamin Hodgson. He was also referred to as a warehouseman of Watling St London in 1800, trustee of his sister Rebecca's will.

1784: age 19, letter describes part of a four week journey on horseback to do “business” (perhaps buying cloth on behalf of his father) in Bath, Warminster, Shaftesbury etc. 14

1789-1796 (possibly earlier) in partnership with Benjamin Hodgson, leatherseller, London

1798: of Godliman St, London put £3000 into partnership with Thomas Langston of Manchester, manufacturer, re Manchester warehouse business, also house at 91 Watling St London 29

1799: James Lee of Watling Street - notice of marriage in Whitehall Evening Post 18

1807: occupier of house at Newington Green on Cubitt estate (for sisters Rebecca & Britannia) 45

1809: Sun insurance policy - James Lee, the north side of Newington Green, gent 28

1810: James was in serious financial difficulty “not of his making”, needing help from family

1819: Bankruptcy proceedings against James Lee, John Scott Martineau and James Wilkinson, factors, dealers and chapmen of Bread St, London 19 [James deceased by this date]

James married Sarah MARTINEAU on 10 Jan 1799, St Saviour, Norwich, Norfolk, UK. 24, 18 Sarah was baptised on 25 Jun 1760 in Octagon-Presbyterian, Norwich, daughter of David MARTINEAU and Sarah. She was buried at Bunhill Fields (vault 107/51 fee 18/-) on 6 May 1802, shortly after the birth of her only child. 2, 40

James and Sarah had a son:

129 i. James Martineau LEE 1802 - 1828

Refer to page 44

James married as his second wife Sarah’s older sister Margaret MARTINEAU in 1803. 40 Margaret was baptised on 26 Jul 1756 in Octagon-Presbyterian, Norwich. She was buried on 19 Mar 1840 at Bunhill Fields (vault 13/58), age 83, of Fludyer St, Westminster [Harriet Martineau's address]. 2, 42

She would be the Margaret Martineau Lee who lived for a time in London with her niece Harriet Martineau, a well-known Unitarian writer and social reformer. 42 [Harriet was the daughter of Sarah and Margaret’s brother Thomas.] The Martineaus and the Lees shared Unitarian views. The Martineaus (refer chart page 45) came of a line of surgeons descended from a Huguenot refugee, and this was the chosen career of James and Sarah’s son. James Lee lived in London, which fits with his widow living with her niece in London. Harriet Martineau’s father was in the business of cloth manufacture, which could have brought him into contact with James Lee, leatherseller and warehouseman. The Martineau family also had connections with the Old Meeting House in Birmingham.
8th & 9th Generations Part B (G.children & Gt G.children of John Lee)

119. Benjamin Lee HODGSON (Rebecca 114, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born in Sep 1782 in London, and baptised on 11 Oct 1782 in Carter Lane Presbyterian Church, Blackfriars, London. In the birth register his name is spelled Lea and his father is recorded as William instead of Benjamin. However the father’s occupation is stated correctly as leather-seller and this, together with the address in the burial seems to confirm the identification. Benjamin Hodgson, aged 3, of St Paul's Churchyard, was buried on 25 May 1785 at Goodman's Field [no 17, distance 44 – the same grave as his father’s first wife] Presbyterian Chapel on Somerset Street in the parish of Stepney, London.2

120. Rebecca HODGSON (Rebecca 114, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 28 Jul 1785 in the Parish of St Gregory, London. She died on 12 Sep 1852 and was buried in the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham.4

Rebecca married her second cousin Thomas Eyre LEE [#53] on 4 Apr 1818 in Stoke Newington Parish church, Borough of Hackney, London.21 For their descendants refer to Section 2. From the 17th century, the village of Stoke Newington was affected by the expansion of London, at first as a refuge for Dissenters, who were not allowed to live in the City, and then in the 18th century by the building of nonconformist meeting houses and chapels. Thus Rebecca would have been living in a neighbourhood which shared her family’s views.

121. Mary HODGSON (Rebecca 114, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 2 Nov 1786 in the Parish of St Gregory, London.2 She died unmarried (of 5 Avon Place, Warwick) on 19 Jun 1864 in Warwick, and was buried there. Will proved 1864, Probate £200.

122. William HODGSON (Rebecca 114, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 26 May 1789 at 6 St Paul's Church Yard, London.2 He died on 13 Oct 1848 in Wakapuaka, Nelson, NZ and was buried in Shelburne St Cemetery, Nelson.12

1814: merchant of the City of London in an indenture advancing £350 to his brother Benjamin against his inheritance under his mother’s and grandfather (John Lee’s) will 1815: trustee in the will of his brother Benjamin, a cotton manufacturer of Chorley, Lancashire. A document of 1832 releasing the other trustees from their obligations under Benjamin’s will indicates that this business had been continued with the agreement of the other residual legatees (Rebecca, Mary and James Hodgson). Benjamin’s death seems to have led to William’s change of career from London merchant to Chorley cotton manufacturer.
1843: rescued from bankruptcy by the intervention of his sister and brother-in-law, Rebecca and Thomas Eyre Lee. Arrangements were made for them to take up land in New Zealand and he emigrated with his family in the ship Himalaya. William’s story is told separately.37

William first married Mary Ann TATE, eldest of the 12 children of Rev William TATE of Chorley, Lancashire, and his wife Agnes nee BOOTH, on 18 Apr 1817, at Chorley, Lancashire.24 Mary Ann was born on 24 Nov 1799 1 in Chorley, and died on 1 Oct 1819.1 They had no children.

William married, as his second wife, Agnes TATE, 5th child of William and Agnes TATE above, on 3 May 1826 in Gretna Hall, Dumfriesshire. Agnes was born on 22 Mar 1807 in Chorley,1 and died on 20 Nov 1880 in Nelson.12 The Rev Tate was a Unitarian clergyman, and there are other Unitarian and Baptist clergy among the Booth and Ashworth ancestors of the Tate sisters.37

Their children were:

130 i. William Charles HODGSON 1826 - 1894 Refer to Hodgson file 38
131 ii. Benjamin Oliver HODGSON 1828 - 1861 Refer to Hodgson file 38
132 iii. Rebecca Lee HODGSON 1830 - 1902 Refer to Hodgson file 38
133 iv. James Lee HODGSON 1832 - 1896 Refer to Hodgson file 38
134 v. Sarah Lee HODGSON 1833 - 1851 Refer to Hodgson file 38

Compiled by Mary Skipworth 3 Mar 2016
123. Benjamin HODGSON, junior, (Rebecca 114, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 4 Aug 1792 at Church Lane, Edmonton, Middlesex. He died aged 22 at Newington Green and was buried on 10 Feb 1815 at Goodman's Fields burial ground.

Several letters from Ben to his younger brother James have survived in the family papers at Birmingham Archives. They must have been returned from America following James' death and appear well worn. They are full of encouragement to help James make good decisions as he searched for a career. Although very young, Ben was adopting a quasi-parental role.

1814: described as cotton manufacturer of Chorley in family deed

1815: Burial record Goodmans Fields reads 10 Feb 1815 Ben Hodson Newenton Green age 23 £2.2.0 There is a squiggle at the end of “Ben” and it is transcribed “Bent”. With spelling errors in both the surname and the address as well, the record is easy to miss. The 2 guinea fee is way above the standard 8/- for an adult burial, and suggests to me that the grave of his parents and baby brother was probably re-opened for his burial. [grave location not stated in record]

124. James HODGSON (Rebecca 114, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 4 Mar 1794 at Church Lane in Edmonton, Middlesex. James died after 1818 according to Lyall Hodgson but I can find no basis for this. He died before 1831, not in his Aunt Sarah's will.

James was described as “unsatisfactory”, and after reading the papers at Birmingham Archives I take this to have been a genteel way of indicating that he had been unable to settle into a career.

1809 farming apprentice to Robert Springett of Finchcocks, Kent, for 5 years, £399 paid
1811 brother Benjamin advised prospects better farming in Kent than from cotton in Bolton
1813 Benjamin arranged to meet James and convince him to be patient and content with quite a small enterprise initially, and that other parts of country will be cheaper than Kent to get started.
1816 James receives £350 from his sister Rebecca, advanced against his inheritance under his mother’s and his grandfather (John Lee’s) will.
1816 James signed power of attorney to his brother William as he was leaving for America
James appears to have left a trail of unpaid debts after his death, some for wine, ale etc. using his uncle John Lee in Boston as a referee for some of them.

125. Sarah LEE (John jnr 116, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 2 Oct 1787, and baptised on 26 Nov 1787 in Birmingham. She died in Boston, Massachusetts on 22 Oct 1849, 17 and was buried with her parents and sister at Mount Auburn cemetery. Her will (appendix 6) specified a plain white marble monument (overleaf) and provided for its maintenance, a contract which is evidently still being honoured.
126. John Francis LEE (John jnr 116, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 6 Jul 1789 in Birmingham, 22 and died on 13 Jan 1869 in Kinver. He was buried in Witton cemetery. 4 Refer to page 63 for his memorial inscription.

1830-31 Member of the Birmingham Book Club, an important social and political club of 24-30 gentlemen members, each of whom had been proposed by an existing member. Before 1840 it was dominated by members of the Unitarian churches of Birmingham. 36

1838: Partner, with his 2nd cousin Thomas Yate Lee (#67 above) in the Hyde Iron Works
1841: age 55, ironmaster of Kinfare (Kinver), with Catherine 55, and 1 female servant
1842: assisted cousin William Hodgson (#122) to emigrate to NZ, maintained correspondence.
1851: age 61, ironmaster - (firm of 2 employ partners, 135 men, 1 woman, 15 boys,) with daughter Ellen F, age 49, 1 male visitor, 1 house servant
1857: named in Land Tax Act as Land Tax Commissioner for Staffordshire (hearing appeals) 36
1861: age 71, ironmaster of Kinfare, with Ellen F age 42, visiting nephew, wife, chn from Boston USA (S Salisbury Tuckerman 30, Laura T 30, Gustavius T 4, Lucy T 3, Rebecca Lee T 10 mths) 3 servants (2 may be marked as visitors) [Noted: a Gustavus Tuckerman married Jane Francis in Edgbaston in 1816. Jane was a sister of J F Lee’s wife Catherine.]

John married his first cousin Catherine FRANCIS (daughter of John and Catherine FRANCIS) on 23 Aug 1817 in Saint Mary, Great Malvern, Worcestershire. 24 Catherine was baptised on 16 Sep 1783 in the New Meeting House, Birmingham, and died on 27 Oct 1844 in Kinver. She was buried age 61 in the Old Meeting Burial Ground, Birmingham, vault no 4 on 2 Nov 1844. 4 Refer page 63 for her inscription.

They had a daughter:

139 i. Ellen Francis LEE was born on 16 Jun 1817 in Edgbaston, Birmingham, 2 died on 16 Jul 1900 in Kinver, and was buried in Witton cemetery. 4 Refer to page 63 for her memorial inscription. On her death, the surname as derived from John Lee (#32) became extinct.
1817: maternal grandparents John Francis and Catherine named in her baptism
1881: of High St, Kinver, with 2 servants, income from dividends
1902: probate £26,138

127. Rebecca LEE (John jnr 116, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 25 Jan 1791 in Birmingham, 2 and died aged 83 on 29 Nov 1874, of 72 Chesnut St Boston, 17 buried with her parents in plot 530, Rose Path, Mount Auburn cemetery, Boston, Mass. USA.
1855  Mass State census, Boston Ward 6, with Susannah Stephens, age 89 born England; and Mary A Elliott, age 43 born Ireland; Alice McCrosky, age 22 born Ireland

1865  Mass State census, Boston Ward 6, living with Mary F Tuckerman 30 (probably a niece); Maria Elliott age 40 born Ireland, servant; Alice Collinsby age 30 born Ireland, servant

128. James LEE (John jnr 116, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 17 Dec 1792 in the New Meeting House, Unitarian, Moor St, Birmingham. He was buried, age 7, on 24 Apr 1800 in his grandfather’s vault at the Old Meeting Ground, Birmingham. He is not mentioned in Lyall Hodgson’s account of the family.

129. James Martineau LEE (James 118, John 32, Thomas III 19, Thomas II 10, Thomas I 5, John 2, William 1) was born on 16 Apr 1802, in the parish of St John the Evangelist, London a medical practitioner. He was buried aged 25 on 4 Feb 1828 at Croft Chapel, Congregational, Hastings, Sussex.

His mother died soon after his birth and his father remarried to her sister.
The choice of medicine for his career would have come from his mother’s Martineau family, as she came from a long line of surgeons.

In his will (Appendix 6) made in 1828 he gives his stepmother Margaret a life interest in his estate, with his Lee and Hodgson cousins as ultimate beneficiaries (after Margaret’s death in 1840). He also mentions two cousins from the Martineau family, and makes detailed provision for the appropriate distribution of his books. There is no indication of a surviving wife or children.

Memorial at Croft Chapel: Sacred to the memory of James Martineau Lee of Norwich who departed this life on the 29th of Jan 1828 aged 25 years.

Further descendants of John Lee are found only in two lines:
- descendants of Thomas Eyre Lee and his wife Rebecca Hodgson - refer to page 24 of this document
- descendants of William Hodgson and his wife Agnes Tate - refer to my Hodgson document 38
Section 4: Descendants of Edward LEE (#14) 1671-1724

Edward Lee, brother of Thomas Lee II, is introduced on page 14 above, with his wife Elizabeth ASHBY and 10 children. Of these, two are known to have married, Edward junior (#21), and Thomas (#28), and their families are covered on pages 16 & 17. As Edward junior apparently left no Lee grandsons, this section will be concerned only with descendants of Thomas (#28).

42. James LEE (Thomas 28, Edward 14, Thomas 1, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 19 Jan 1746/47 in East Farndon, and was buried there, aged 57, on 25 Mar 1802.

As the eldest son of Thomas and Hannah, James might have been expected to marry and to inherit his father's estate, but this did not happen. Instead he inherited only a half share of his mother's chattels. His mother also set aside the sum of £200, the investment income from which was to be used for James' maintenance for life. This could be because James suffered some kind of disability. At the time of making Hannah's will, James was residing with his brother Thomas, and so long as that arrangement continued Thomas was to be paid James' board and maintenance income, and then to inherit the capital on James' death.
45. Thomas LEE of Great Oxendon (Thomas 29, Edward 14, Thomas 15, John 2, William 1) was baptized in East Farndon on 30 Apr 1753, the son of Thomas Lee #28 and Hannah (nee Hensman). He died “aged 36, of Oxendon,” and was buried in East Farndon on 23 Jul 1789. He is likely to have had a headstone at East Farndon, similar to those of his wife and sons, but nothing survives.

1784: of East Farndon (birth of Thomas)
1787: of Great Oxendon (births of William and Ann)

Thomas married Ann Peach HOLDICH by licence on 11 May 1783 in East Farndon.49 Ann died on 28 Dec 1846, and was buried “aged 85 of Oxendon” on 2 Jan 1847 in East Farndon 49 with a headstone. Ann was the daughter of Edward Holdich, gentleman of East Farndon, and his wife Ann Peach.

140. Thomas LEE of Ringstead  (Thomas 46, Thomas 28, Edward 14, Thomas 5, John 2, William 1) was baptised on 8 Jul 1784 in East Farndon, son of Thomas and Ann (nee Holdich).49 and was buried there about 12 Apr 1855.

Thomas and William #141 have matching, adjacent headstones in East Farndon, which give the impression of brothers. These stones are also similar to that of their mother Ann, supporting the suggestion that they are her sons. The three stones are made of Welsh slate, an expensive option because of distance from the source, and they have weathered well.

Section 5: Descendants of William LEES & Mary TOLTON

I have been contacted by descendants of this couple who still live in the vicinity of East Farndon and who have “always believed” that they are related to the Lee family whose former home stands in Back Lane. Their line can be traced back to a William LEES who was “of East Farndon” at the time of his marriage in 1748. He and his descendants have been fairly consistent in using the spelling LEES, which may signal a different origin from the Lee family. Some of William’s 19th century descendants have changed the spelling of their surname to Lee. Sometimes the final “s” is written smaller than the rest of the name, or separated by an apostrophe, as if uncertain of its position.

143. William LEES was born about 1719 (parents unknown), and buried on 29 Feb 1792 in East Farndon, a labourer aged 73.

William LEES of East Farndon married by banns Mary TOLTON of Arthingworth on 5 Dec 1748 in East Farndon.49 Mary LEE’s[sic] was buried on 7 Oct 1784 in East Farndon.49

William and Mary had the following children recorded in East Farndon registers:49

144  i. William LEES, junior 1750 - 1840  Refer to page 51
145  ii. Ann LEES baptised 29 Jan 1752  Nothing further known
146  iii. John LEES baptised 21 Apr 1754  Nothing further known
147  iv. Thomas LEES 1756 - 1816  Refer to page 51
148  v. Mary LEES baptised 5 Nov 1758; married William PALMER of Clipston on 3 Apr 1791 in East Farndon.49 Both marked instead of signing.
149  vi. Elizabeth LEES baptised 14 Jun 1761  Nothing further known
150  vii. Alice LEES baptised 5 Feb 1763/4; married George FAULKNER 19 Aug 1784. both signed the register.

If this William Lees was a son of Edward Lee junior (#21 above), he would have been aged about 5 when his father died. He would have been the youngest in a family of 11, with his next sibling just 2 years older. That all seems quite possible.

William was a labourer in his burial record. Assuming he was Edward’s son, his next older brother would be Thomas (#28) who had no will, though his widow Hannah left goods amounting to about £300 in 1783. It is worth noting that Thomas and Hannah’s son married a gentleman’s daughter, Ann Peach HOLDICH. The eldest brother, on this scenario, would be Edward Lee junior, whose will gives no specific indication of his worth, but it carries a personal seal depicting the Lee arms.

This is difficult to reconcile with the “labourer” label on William Lees. However, William’s descendants will be shown with some characteristics which do not fit with “labourers.”

[Note: In seeking William’s baptism I have checked the East Farndon Parish Register without success. However a parallel set of records exists in the Bishop’s Transcripts, which would be worth checking in case the PR is incomplete. BT’s for East Farndon are available from FamilySearch.org, or at Northamptonshire Record Office.]
Children of William Lees (#143)

144. William LEES, junior (William 143) was baptised on 1 Apr 1750 in East Farndon,\(^4^9\) son of William Lees and Mary Tolton. He was buried in East Farndon 22 Nov 1840, “age 90 of Farndon.” \(^4^9\)

1777: probably William LEES, servant, East Farndon Militia List
1788, 1791: labourer in children’s baptisms 1809: yeoman in Elizabeth’s burial
1831: voter of East Farndon, yeoman, occupier of house and land, surname Lee or Ley

Will of William Lees of East Farndon, yeoman, proved 1841

- To wife Mary Lees for life, two messuages [dwelling houses] or tenements with the yard, garden and appurtenances now in the occupation of my son Richnal Lees.
- After Mary’s death the two messuages to son John Lees for life, then to his wife Elizabeth Lees for life or as long as she is a widow. After death of John and Elizabeth to go to grandson George Lees. The bequest to George is subject to the payment of £200 to be shared by William’s 2 granddaughters Harriet and Elizabeth, and if unmarried they are to be entitled to continue to live in this property.
- After Mary’s death, Richnal to inherit the cottage etc he occupies, after his death to Comfort for life, then to grandson William. [No provision for William’s 6 siblings - such was the fate of younger sons of younger sons.]
- All household goods to Mary for life, then to be divided equally between John and Richnal.
- A set of drawers “now in my sleeping room” to Richnal.
- All the rest of his personal estate to Mary absolutely. John and Richnal to be executors.
Signed with his mark, 24 Feb 1836.

William married Mary NORMAN by licence, both of East Farndon, on 25 Sep 1785, both “marked” the register.\(^4^9\) Mary was born about 1757 and buried on 21 Oct 1844 “age 87, of Farndon.” \(^4^9\) There had been an extended Norman family in East Farndon for several generations but I am unable to place Mary in those families. Her birth elsewhere may have been the reason for marriage by licence.

William and Mary’s children as recorded in East Farndon registers were: \(^4^9\)

151 i. John LEES 1786 - 1845 Refer to page 52
152 ii. Elizabeth LEES 1788 - 1809 Refer to page 53
153 iii. Susannah LEES baptised 19 Jun 1791 East Farndon, buried 22 Jan 1794 an infant, included on Elizabeth’s headstone in East Farndon (see below).
154 iv. Richnor LEES 1793 - 1849 Refer to page 53

1841: Mary Lees, aged about 80, was living independently in East Farndon, adjacent to Mary Norman a nurse aged about 70, who was probably a relative assisting her. Other adjacent households were John Lees #151 and family; Mary Norman’s married son Charles, a tailor, and his family; also Ann Lees and family (widow of #147). These 5 related groups probably shared the two houses left to Mary in her husband’s will.

147. Thomas LEES (William 143) was baptized on 27 Jun 1756 in East Farndon, the son of William Lees and Mary Tolton.\(^4^9\) He was buried in East Farndon in 1816 “aged 60” according to the register,\(^4^9\) which supports William and Mary as his parents.

He was probably Thomas LEES, servant, East Farndon Militia List 1777
Thomas, labourer in children’s baptisms and burials

He married Ann but the marriage record has not been found. Ann was buried on 3 May 1847 in East Farndon “aged 84 of Farndon” so was born about 1763. 1841: Ann Lees, pauper aged about 75, head of household, with daughter Ann, and grandson Robert, adjacent to Mary Lees #144 (see above).

Grandchildren of William Lees (#143)

151. John LEES (William jnr 144, William 143) was baptised on 26 Nov 1786 in East Farndon, son of Wm & Mary Lee’s[ sic] 49 and buried there on 19 Jan 1845 “aged 59, of Farndon.” His headstone in East Farndon survives, though the details are difficult to decipher. Yeoman of East Farndon in his will.

1841: John Lees and his wife Elizabeth, with their daughter Harriet.

John married Sarah DEXTER on 27 Jul 1818 in East Farndon, both of East Farndon. Ritchnor Lees, Charlotte Smith and Thos Ashby were witnesses.49 Sarah was born about 1795 and was buried on 17 Jun 1824, aged 29.49 Sarah’s father Samuel Dexter of Clipston had married Elizabeth Leake on 28 Oct 1790 in East Farndon.49 He was described as freeholder in his children’s baptisms.

John and Sarah’s children were:

164
165

i. Elizabeth LEES 1819 - Refer to page 54

ii. George LEES 1822 - 1909 Refer to page 54

After Sarah’s death John remarried Elizabeth WARD on 7 Nov 1825 in Thorpe Langton, Leicestershire.24 Elizabeth was born in Thorpe Langton about 1798, and was buried in East Farndon on 9 Jan 1871, “of Market Harborough.” 49 In 1851 she was living independently in East Farndon, aged 53, owner of land. John and Elizabeth’s children were:

154. Richnor LEES (William jnr 144, William 143) was baptised on 17 May 1793 in East Farndon, and buried in East Farndon on 3 Jun 1849 “age 56 of Farndon.” His name has been recorded in a number of variations, including Richnal and Richard, but the family regard Richnor as correct. The origin of this name is not known. He signed Ritchnor on one occasion, Richnor on another.

1841: ag labourer aged 45 in the census, though he may have been working for his mother. She died in 1844 and this may have enabled him to acquire land, so that by 1851 his widow could describe herself as “grazier.” At home in the census with his wife Comfort and 6 children. Charlotte was possibly away from home in service.
1851: Richnor had died and Comfort, a grazier was head of the household with her sons Jeremiah and Frederick as ag labourers. The older sons William and Charles had left home, William for America, possibly with Charles but the knowledge is lost. 16 year old Mary Ann is described as a servant, probably working for another household though living at home.
1861: Comfort, a grazier head of household, with Jeremiah, a maltster, Frederick, an ag lab, and Mary Ann still at home. Mary Ann is described as grazier which is hard to explain.

Richnor married Comfort BROUGHTON by banns in East Farndon on 27 Nov 1820, both of East Farndon. Their witnesses were Comfort’s younger sister Patience Broughton and Daniel Humphrey who were themselves married in 1822. Comfort was baptised on 1 Jul 1796 in East Farndon, the daughter of Giles and Mary Broughton, labourer. She died “aged 70” in 1867 in Market Harborough RD. Comfort’s father Giles had been baptised on 25 Jul 1739 in East Farndon, the son of Wm & Judy Broughton.
Richnor and Comfort had 5 sons and 2 daughters:

- 168: i. William LEES 1821 - 1908
- 169: ii. Charles LEES 1823 -
- 170: iii. Charlotte LEES 1824 -
- 171: iv. Jeremiah LEES 1827 -
- 172: v. Felix LEES 1830 - 1848
- 173: vi. Frederick LEES 1832 - 1908
- 174: vii. Mary Ann LEES 1834 -

Refer to page 55

156. Mary LEES (Thomas 147, William 142) was baptised on 11 May 1788 in East Farndon (Mary Lee’s), and buried there on 15 Jul 1816 aged 28.49 She had a son:

- 175: i. John son of Mary Lees spinster bapt 30 Jun 1816,
  John Lees infant bur 30 Sep 1816.

160. Ann LEES (Thomas 147, William 142) was baptised on 26 Dec 1799 in East Farndon, and buried there on 5 Oct 1853 aged 53, of Market Harborough workhouse.49

- 1841: living with her mother and son Robert – paupers
- 1851: not in East Farndon, probably in the workhouse, her mother having died.

Ann was the mother of the following children as recorded in East Farndon registers:

- 176: i. Seir LEES, (a son) baptised 10 Aug 1822, buried 1823, son of Ann Lees spinster
- 177: ii. Unnamed daughter of Ann Lees spinster bapt 29 Apr 1827 [father Joseph Broughton]
- 178: iii. Robert LEE Refer to page 56
Great Grandchildren of William LEES (#143)

164. Elizabeth LEES (John 151, William jnr 144, William 142), daughter of John and Sarah, was born on 28 Jun 1819 and baptized with her brother on 29 Dec 1823 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough. She died or married before 1841, no further records found.

165. George LEES (John 151, William jnr 144, William 142) was born on 8 Jan 1822 in East Farndon and baptized on 29 Dec 1823 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough. He died “aged 88” in 1909 in Market Harborough RD.

1841: In the census George was living with his grandparents, Samuel and Elizabeth Dexter, then in their 70s with no children at home. Samuel was described as a freeholder in the baptisms of his children, but his son James had been killed at age 15 in falling off a wall, and his son William had died at age 10. It appears that this grandson George Lees would inherit the Dexter land.

1851: Samuel had died in 1842 and Elizabeth Dexter, widow was head of the household, aged 83, landed proprietor, living with George Lees, her grandson, aged 29, unmarried, manager. Their servant was Charlotte Lees aged 26, probably George’s cousin #170 below.

1857: George Lees voted at East Farndon

1881: George, a grazier, living with wife Fanny, son John and daughter Lillie [listed LEE]

George married Frances HARDING (Fanny) in 1854. They had 1 son and 4 daughters:

i. Rose Elizabeth LEES born 1855 in Market Harborough RD.

Daisy Maud LEES, dau of Rose Elizabeth, singlewoman, baptised 2 Apr 1878 E Farndon, died about Sept 1878 in Market Harborough RD.

180 ii. Charlotte Ann LEES born 1857 in Market Harborough RD.

181 iii. Frances Adelaide LEES born 1859 in Market Harborough RD.

182 iv. John Dexter LEES born 1864, married Mary Ann MEASURES 1885, 4 children:

- George Sidney LEES, bap 9 May 1886 East Farndon
- John Leonard LEES, bap 9 Oct 1887 East Farndon
- Daisy Nellie LEES, bap 16 Jun 1889 East Farndon
- Fred LEES, bap 19 Oct 1891 East Farndon

v. Lillie (or Lizzie) Smith LEES, baptised 20 Jan 1868 East Farndon

166. Harriett LEES (John 151, William jnr 144, William 142) daughter of John and Elizabeth, was baptized on 23 Jan 1826 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough. She was probably the Harriett Lees who died in Market Harborough RD in 1844.

167. John Ward LEES (John 151, William jnr 144, William 142) John son of John and Elizabeth was born on 31 Jan 1834 and baptized on 24 Mar 1835 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough. He died unmarried in 1850 (John Ward LEES).

John was not included with his 3 siblings in his grandfather's will of 1841 though he did not die until 1850, implying that he was not expected to outlive his parents.

168. William LEES (Richnor 154, William jnr 144, William 142) was born on 5 Feb 1821, and baptised on 9 May 1821 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough. He died in Fall River, Wisconsin, on 14 Jul 1908.

William left his family some time after 1841 to emigrate to Wisconsin, USA. His next brother Charles may have accompanied him, although nothing further is known about Charles. Their father would have recognized that finding employment for five sons in East Farndon would be difficult, and preferred to assist them to emigrate. His life story is summarized in his obituary.
Mr. William Lees was born in Farndon, North Hamptonshire, England, Feb. 5, 1821. He came to this country in the spring of '47 and lived at Waukesha six years, returning to England and was married to Miss Mary Allen Dec. 15, 1853, after which they came to this country and resided in Waukesha six months, then to the town of Westford where they lived 12 years and where their son was born. In 1866 they moved to the farm one-half mile north of Fall River where he lived until his death which occurred on July 14, 1908 at the age of 87 years, 5 mo., and 9 da. His wife and son survive. He also leaves, to mourn their loss, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. The services were conducted at the house Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Murrish and the interment took place in the Fall River cemetery. The New Era, Fall River, 17 Jul 1908.

William married Mary ALLEN on 15 Dec 1853 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough.² They had one son:

184 i. Frederick Allen LEES born 1855, married Sarah Louisa BATTLES and had 4 children:
  - William Alphus LEES born 8 Jan 1878 married
  - Hattie May LEES married Robert BONESS on 4 Oct 1899
  - George LEES born 3 Jan 1887 unmarried
  - Mamie LEES born 6 Dec 1888 married Jessie LYNCH

169. Charles LEES (Richnor 154, William 144, William 143) was born on 3 Aug 1822, and baptised on 6 Nov 1822 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough.²

170. Charlotte LEES (Richnor 154, William jnr 144, William 143) was born on 27 Dec 1824, and baptised on 29 Jun 1825 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough.² Probably Charlotte who died in 1908.⁸

171. Jeremiah LEES (Richnor 154, William 144, William 143) was born on 21 Jun 1827, and baptised on 23 Jan 1828 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough.² He died after 1881.

  1851: Ag lab, living with his mother (a grazier) and siblings in East Farndon.
  1861: Still at home with mother and siblings, occupation maltster

Jeremiah married Ann SHARP in 1868,⁸ the year after his mother’s death. They appear to have had no children. Thos Sharp, father-in-law, lived with them in 1871.

172. Felix LEES (Richnor 154, William 144, William 143) was born on 21 Mar 1830, and baptised on 7 Aug 1830 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough.² He was buried aged 18 on 22 Mar 1848 in East Farndon.⁴⁹

173. Frederick LEE (Richnor 154, William 144, William 143) was born on 3 Jul 1832, and baptised on 10 Oct 1832 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough (indexed Sees).² He died in 1908.⁸ Frederick and his descendants spelt the surname LEE.

Frederick married Louisa CROFT in 1871 in Bedford RD 4 years after his mother’s death, when he was 39. Louisa was born about 1839 at Braybrooke, Northamptonshire.
In 1881 he was a grazier with 11 acres.
By 1891 he had moved to Great Bowden, where he was employed as a grocer’s porter, son Frederick was a solicitor’s clerk, William 15 and Frank 13 were working for a staymaker.
Frederick and Louisa had 3 sons:

185
   i. Frederick Richnor LEE 1873-1949, married Edith Harriet BUSWELL - 3 sons
      Graham Richnor LEE 1907-
      Stuart Haddon LEE 1909-
      Kenneth Sydney LEE 1913-

186
   ii. William Ernest LEE 1875-1947

187
   iii. Frank LEE 1877-

174. Mary Ann LEES (Richnor 154, William 144, William 143) was born on 10 Oct 1834, and baptised on 24 Mar 1835 at the Independent Chapel, Market Harborough. Listed as Marianne in 1841, but elsewhere as Mary Ann. In 1871, after their mother’s death, she was living with her unmarried brother Frederick in East Farndon.

178. Robert LEE (Ann LEES 160, Thomas 147, William 143), base born son of Ann Lee(sic) living with her mother, was baptised on 29 May 1836 in East Farndon.
   1841: age 5, living with his mother Ann and grandmother, also Ann – a pauper.
   1851: age 15, living on his own, a pauper aged 15, his mother in the workhouse and grandmother had died.
   Robert’s name was usually spelt LEE.

Robert married Ann NEALE in 1861 in Billesdon, Leicestershire. Their children, born in Billesdon, were:

188
   i. Harriet LEE, born 1863
189
   ii. Samuel LEE, born 1864
190
   iii. Fred LEE, born 1866
191
   iv. Ada LEE, born 1872
192
   v. George LEE, born 1874
193
   vi. Emma LEE, born 1876
194
   vii. Hannah LEE, born 1879

QUESTION:

Were William LEES #143 and his sons William junior #144, and Thomas #147 part of the Lee family of East Farndon which is the main subject of this paper?

English families traditionally practiced primogeniture to a greater or lesser degree. The expectation was that the eldest son would inherit a major share of the family’s wealth, along with a responsibility to provide for his mother and unmarried siblings. As the transfer of assets often occurred in the father’s lifetime, family wills do not always reveal the full picture. After several generations, the status of younger sons of younger sons could be quite different from their distant cousins in the senior line.

However, there does seem to be a very wide gap between the family of Thomas #147 for example and his Birmingham contemporaries. His widow was described as a pauper, and a granddaughter died in the workhouse. He lived to age 60 so this is not a case of a premature death disadvantaging a family, though the possibility that he was incapacitated for work remains. All but one of his nine children died prematurely, and he had 4 illegitimate grandchildren.

William #143 was a labourer when he died in 1792, but his son William junior #144 was a yeoman in 1809. A yeoman worked on his own land, as opposed to a labourer who worked on someone else’s. The quantity of land could vary widely. William junior left a will which mentions three houses, and he married by licence which is not usual for a labourer’s son. All this suggests that the labourer status of his father may be misleading. On the other hand William junior’s brother Thomas was without doubt a labourer, so perhaps it was inheritance from Mary Norman’s family which advanced her descendants.

All in all I feel there is not sufficient evidence to say one way or the other whether we are looking at one family or two unrelated families with similar names. I have opted to include them all in this paper so that all available information is accessible in one place, and leave my readers to draw their own conclusions.
Appendix 1: The Old Meeting House and Burial Ground, Birmingham.

The term Dissenter refers to a number of Protestant denominations -- Presbyterians, Baptists, Quakers, Congregationalists, Unitarians and others -- which, because they refused to take the Anglican communion or to conform to the tenets of the restored Church of England in 1662, were subjected to persecution under various acts passed by the Cavalier Parliament between 1661 and 1665. Examples of the attempts which were made to discourage them were the Act of Uniformity, which required all churches in England to use the Book of Common Prayer, and punished those who would not comply, and the Five Mile Act, which prohibited ministers who were ejected because of the Act of Uniformity from coming within five miles of their former parishes or of any town or city.

The Old Meeting House, Birmingham, was built following the passage of the Toleration Act in 1689, which permitted Dissenters to hold services in licensed meeting houses and to maintain their own preachers. These non-conformists were at first called Presbyterians and later became known as Unitarians. The Old Meeting was set on fire in the riots of 1715, and totally destroyed in the riots of 1791. It was rebuilt in 1794. It had a graveyard attached, wherein were buried some of Birmingham's most notable Nonconformists. A school and a library were attached.

In 1979 Dr R J Hetherington described the history of the Old Meeting burial ground:

Catherine Hutton Beale produced Memorials of the Old Meeting House and Burial Ground, Birmingham in 1882 - a limited edition - I own one copy." In 1882 the burial ground was removed en bloc to Witton cemetery with every stone recreated in correct position (a few decayed stones were replaced by new ones). The chapel was demolished and the mural tablets were put on the walls of a new Gothic stone church built soon after. That church was damaged by a bomb in the 1939 war and left derelict. The congregation disappeared and in 1954-55 it was demolished, and the mural monuments with it. However, in 1949-50 I personally took my copy of the book round (a) the Old Meeting Church and (b) the ground at Witton, and collated every word in every inscription. One interesting result was the logging of several new graves; the ground is still in use.

The following transcriptions provided by Hetherington are from his corrected copy of Beale. Bracketed numbers refer to the person's entry in this document. Full text of this book is available online http://ia700306.us.archive.org/31/items/memorialsofoldme00beal/memorialsofoldme00beal.pdf.

Appendix 2: The Lee premises at 18 Newhall Street, Birmingham.

Some Eighteenth Century Birmingham Houses, and the Men who lived in them by Benjamin Walker
Transactions Birmingham Archaeological Society 1952: 56, 1-36

….. with the exception of two houses now numbered 18 and 22 all the earlier buildings in Newhall Street have disappeared. … No 18 is first mentioned in the Levy Book of 1769 (tenant Thomas Lee) …. a three story brick building with the usual cornice and parapet wall hiding the roof; the windows have flat stone arches with large voussoirs and ornamented keystones on the ground and first floors, and flat gauged-brick arches on the second floor; and the entrance is flanked by engaged columns supporting an entablature forming the door head, over which is a segmental pediment.

Thomas Lee was an attorney, and he, and afterwards his son Thomas [Thomas Lee V], occupied No 18 until 1792. In that year the firm, then known as Lee & Son, removed to No 15 The Square ………

In 1799 Thomas Lee [V] returned accompanied by Josiah Corrie who had recently joined him in partnership. The partnership dissolved in 1815…. but Lee remained at Newhall Street, where today his successors …. continue to carry on the practice founded …. more than a century and a half ago. This is probably the oldest firm of solicitors in Birmingham.

[A photograph of the exterior on Number 18 Newhall Street (since demolished 9) accompanies the article.]

Memorials of the Old Square, Birmingham by Joseph Hill and Robert K Dent. Achilles Taylor 1897
[Joseph Hill was a clerk to this firm and derived most of his historic knowledge from their archives.]

For some years prior to 1760, Thomas Lee [IV] the founder of the business, had practised as an attorney at Market Harborough, in which neighbourhood, at East Farndon, his family had lived for many generations. Upon coming to Birmingham his first office was at the Johnson's Head, Friday Street, now Congreve Street, but shortly afterwards at Shut Lane, Moor Street, and in 1763 he was addressed …. "Attorney at Law, Colmore Row"..... A year or two later he purchased the newly built house in New Hall Street, and this, in 1791, was the residence of Thomas Lee, junior.

In 1777, Thomas Lee [IV] was appointed Steward of Birmingham manor by Lord Archer. At his [Thomas Lee IV's] death in 1791, the Archers ….. gave the appointment to Mr Brooke, the somewhat notorious leader of the Church and King party. In consequence of the riots in July of that year, party spirit ran high; costly litigation, in which Lee and Son [Thomas IV and Thomas V] were prosecuting attorneys, was pending, and the new Steward, in disregard of ancient custom, refused to accept the Low Bailiff's jury, and chose all the officers from his own party. The leading dissenters met, and raised a fund of between two and three thousand pounds, and further suits were commenced, which resulted in Brooke's nominees being ousted. ….. Lee and Shipton were acting for nearly the whole of the sufferers in the riots.

Joseph Shipton, an attorney, who was a quaker, entered into partnership with the firm of Lee & Son, New Hall Street, and the offices were at once removed to the Square. The firm of Lee and Shipton was dissolved at Christmas 1797, Thomas Lee took as partner Joseph Corrie ….. About 1804 Lee and Corrie removed to the old offices in New Hall Street, and in 1815 dissolved partnership. In 1813 Thomas Eyre Lee joined his father, and in 1820 the firm changed from Lee and Son to Lee, Son and Hunt. Thomas Lee (IV) retired in 1825, and died at his house in Hagley Road in 1840. From Lee and Hunt the firm became Lee, Hunt and Adams, 1832; Thomas Eyre Lee 1838; Lee Pinson and Best, 1844; Charles Best, 1859; Best and Horton, 1861; Best Horton and Lee, 1878; Horton, Lee and Co, 1893; Lee, Russell and Terry, 1894; Lee and Russell, 1896.

For more than a century the firm has represented Lench's Trust, and many other old charities of the town.

Dr Hetherington had seen the Board Room at 18 Newhall St and described it being …furnished as an 18th century dining room with a superb Chippendale table and chairs. In 2003 the firm Lee Crowder merged with Cobbetts, ending a 230 year association of the Lee name with Birmingham legal practice.
Appendix 3: Tontine Deed for Birmingham Public Library - 1798

A Tontine Deed is an annuity taken out by a group of individuals, the survivors of which stand to benefit the most. In fact when only one subscriber is left alive, he/she takes the lot!!

In this Tontine, some 180 worthy citizens of Birmingham Warwickshire subscribed an undisclosed sum and agreed to pay the rent on the land which the agreement set aside for the provision of a Public Library for Birmingham.

It is not clear from the legal clauses to the tontine, just what benefits were expected to accrue to the subscribers - but it is of note that the subscribers nominated very young members of their families presumably in the hope that these youngsters would out-live all the others.

One benefit that the subscribers enjoyed was that if five or more of their number so desired they could call a General Meeting of the Proprietors, and at such a meeting they were empowered to direct and manage the affairs of the Library undertaking. They could also appoint the Secretary and Treasurer of the Library.

The Deed was signed on 25th March 1798.

In the Schedule to the Deed are recorded the full details of the subscribers. In transcribing these entries the information has been somewhat abbreviated.

George Eyre Lee [#52] was taking out an investment for his nephew Thomas Eyre Lee [#53], son of Thomas Lee V and Lydia. (The document is incorrect when it states that Thomas Eyre Lee was son of George Eyre & Lydia.) Thomas Eyre Lee died at the age of 62, so would not have been a serious contender for the prize.

John Lee jnr [#116], cousin of George Eyre Lee and Thomas Lee V, was taking out an investment for his son James [#128]. John's decision to nominate his younger son was a poor one, as James died two years later, whereas his brother, who was only 3 years older, lived to age 79.

Thomas Lee V [#50] was taking out an investment for the son of his partner Joseph Shipton. [Refer to Appendix 2] Since these tontines usually named a family member one questions whether Joseph Shipton was related in some way.
Appendix 4: History of the Birmingham Library

From the book by Charles Parish, 1966 (pages 10-11)

The Birmingham Library, in common with similar libraries in other towns, was an expression of the desire of the prosperous dissenting middle class to establish permanent repositories for books; not the publications of the day only, but also all the books required by the cultivated reader. The founding of these libraries was a necessary and logical extension of the ideas that had led to the establishment of the dissenting academies; but although the founders had the needs of their own people in the forefront of their minds, they never contemplated restricting membership to those who shared their religious beliefs.

The earliest records of the Library have been lost, and it is necessary therefore, to rely upon contemporary writers for evidence of its foundation. There is general agreement that this event took place in 1779. Hutton, in later editions of his History makes the following statement: “The Public Library of Birmingham, commenced in 1779, and, like many important things, from exceedingly minute beginnings. Each member paid a guinea entrance, and six shillings per annum......” Another contemporary writer states: “The Birmingham Library originated with the Dissenters; and was first established in November, 1779. The number of subscribers at its commencement amounted to no more than 19, one of whom only was a member of the establishment. Far from wishing with a narrow and selfish spirit, to confine within the circle of their own particular views, the advantages resulting from such an institution, the first founders, with a liberal anxiety to extend its usefulness, communicated their scheme to many of the respectable laity of Birmingham and to some clergy with an invitation to join them, which the latter at that time refused to accept.”

Footnote: The Birmingham Library described here should not be confused with the Birmingham City Library which it pre-dated by more than a decade.

From website of Birmingham and Midlands Institute http://www.bmi.org.uk/library.html:

Library

Begun in 1779 at the house of John Lee, a button manufacturer, then living at 115 Snow Hill, this private lending library was reorganized in 1781 by Joseph Priestley, pioneering chemist and discoverer of oxygen. Two moves in quick succession, to Swan Yard off High Street, and to the Upper Priory in 1790 were followed in 1797 by a further move to purpose-built premises in Union Street. There the library remained for just over a century and in 1899 came the final migration to its present Margaret Street home, then a brand new building. There it was joined in 1965 by the Birmingham and Midland Institute, itself ousted from its original Victorian premises in Paradise Street by the ringway building programme. Extensive alterations to the Birmingham Library were the result of this amalgamation.

The library has a total holding approaching 100,000 books including:
- 18th century volumes from the earliest years of the library.
- 19th and 20th century purchases, including books on history, literature, natural history, science, travel and fiction, with a strong holding of late 19th and early 20th century novels.
- 6,000 biographies.
- a music library with a remarkably comprehensive range of classical LPs and over 2500 classical CDs.
- many books not available in other libraries may be borrowed for private use at home.

The library is available only to BMI members, who may borrow books, LPs and CDs free of charge.

Appendix 7: The William Lee Memorial Painting

Anyone who is familiar with, or who has visited St. Helen’s Church cannot have failed to admire the remarkable painting that represents a memorial to William Lee of Abingdon who, according to the picture, had, by 1637 when he died, a progeny of 107 children, 79 grandchildren, and 102 great grandchildren. Jerome K Jerome, in Three Men in a Boat, published in 1889, writes ‘Mr W Lee—five times Mayor of Abingdon—was, no doubt, a benefactor to his generation, but I hope there are not many of his kind abroad in this overpopulated nineteenth century.’ William Lee died aged 62. It was not just his fecundity, but also his longevity, remarkable for the time, that contributed to the extraordinary total of 197. The recent re-enactment of Three Men in a Boat on television will no doubt have aroused renewed interest in Mr Lee. But it was a strange series of events that led Mike Pollitt and Chris Potter to St. Helen’s Church.

In the summer of 2004, Mike Pollitt, a Yorkshireman living in retirement in Herefordshire, read an advertisement for an imminent sale by auction of antiques to be held in Woburn. The advertisement carried a small illustration of a painting of a tree festooned with names in circular ‘that’ captioned with the date of 1637. The names appeared to be the descendants or family of an ancient gentleman pictured at the bottom of the picture. Intrigued, Mike rang the auctioneer for a detailed description and condition report of the item. Satisfied by what he heard, and sensing the painting’s rarity, Mike was determined to acquire it, notwithstanding he could not view it because of a holiday commitment in the West country. Telephone bidding was arranged, the painting bought, and now hangs in the Pollitts’ mediæval farmhouse.

The painting measures 29 by 23 inches, and is virtually identical to the one hanging in the church. A comparison with the memorial painting in the church suggests that the vertical edges have been trimmed (without impaling on the tree), probably to make the painting fit the late Victorian/Edwardian frame in which it is now housed. Edge cracks reinforce this opinion. The painting appears to have been worked with gouache (a thick water-based paint) on hand-made paper. Whilst, inevitably, there has been some fading, the details remain sharp.

There are minor differences between the two versions, which point to Mike’s painting having been undertaken as a proof for the memorial in the Church. One or two ‘that’ on the memorial include names that are missing from Mike’s painting. The left-hand top cartouche on the memorial has a small flourish, which is not on the proof. Significantly William Lee appears much more genial and benevolent in the Church memorial than in Mike’s painting, where the impression is one of dominess.

As soon as she saw the painting, Mike’s wife, Margaret, realised it could well be of interest to Chris Potter, an experienced genealogist living in Ludlow. An invitation to view was readily accepted by Chris. His first challenge was to draw up a Lee family tree, based on the information contained on Mike’s painting, and to compare it with details on the Church painting. It was quite a task to establish the names of the 11 children, 78 grandchildren and 102 great-grandchildren. He was still puzzling over this when he happened to see Griff Rhys-Jones in the BBC adaptation of Three Men in a Boat.

Imagine his surprise when a similar picture of William Lee in St. Helen’s was featured! He quickly got out his copy of the book and read the reference. He immediately alerted Mike, who contacted the Church authorities at Abingdon. A visit resulted. Mike and Chris were very hospitably received, and Chris gave a copy of his putative Lee Tree. Some detailed pictures were taken and, as a result, Chris finally established exactly who was named on the two pictures and confirmed the 197 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. But there was a big surprise: the tree contained more names than 197! A glance at the picture gives the impression of heavy ‘fruited’ in the top left-hand side.

After careful study and counting, it emerged that extra descendants were included, presumably not alive in 1637. There are no fewer than 24 ‘extra’ names, 12 great-grandchildren, and even 12 great-great-grandchildren. These ‘extra’ descendants are descended from Katherine Lee, William’s eleventh child, born 1604, who married Thomas Cipmson. The family names on this line of descent include Arden, Wrath, Holmes, Humphrys and Sampson. From the dates of baptism of these ‘extra’ descendants, it is hoped to work out when exactly the picture was painted. It was perhaps as much as 20 years after William’s death.

Who were the people named on the tree? This is another challenge, but some answers are already clear and there are some surprises. One of the grandchildren was Robert Henson, born 1608 in Abingdon, a grocer, who was Lord Mayor of London in 1673. He was knighted in 1665. Other relations or descendants were substantial and prosperous people of Abingdon and area, variously described as gentlemen, yeomen, goldsmiths, mercers, woolsellers, hat-makers etc. Chris Potter has managed to find a considerable number of wills detailing the possessions and families of people named on the tree, and a picture is emerging of significant family links with the city of London and elsewhere. William Lee himself left a will, and a copy has been obtained from Berkshire Record Office.

It would be exciting to find present-day descendants of William Lee. There must be thousands of them, some living still in the Abingdon area. Chris would be most interested to hear from any people who think they might be descended from William Lee. Other summaries on the tree, or known to be connected, include Atwood, Allen, Baron, Booth, Bosall (Bostock), Boyle, Brabourne, Carpenter, Eves, Gale, Harper, Hill, Hyde, King, Newburgh, Payne, Porter, Potter, Rawlings, Read, Steed, Taylor, Williams.

The sharp eyes of Mike Pollitt have rescued from an unknown source a picture that has stimulated exciting research. As is written on one of the cartouches, ‘What though the root be dead the branches flourish still’. Where the branches may lead is anyone’s guess, but already about 250 descendants have been identified. Some, no doubt, will still be bearing fruit to this day.

As well as the two paintings described on page 73, this etching representing the same tree is held in the British Museum. [Detail is legible at 500% magnification] There are some differences however. William’s date of death has changed from 1637 to 1635, William’s age has dropped from 92 to 87, and the great grandchildren have not been counted. I have not had the opportunity of examining the painting closely enough to count individuals, but the total in the etching is well short of 196 - I make the total 169 as listed below. Some are listed as “not baptized” suggesting babies that died, so the 196 offspring at the time of William’s death were not all living. The etching is signed Guili: Porter, who the British Museum suggests may be the grandson William Porter.

Appendix 8: A brief resume of the Birmingham button trade prepared for family use by Roger Keight in February 2000, reproduced with permission

Birmingham was long known as 'Toymaker of the World', 'toys' being things of fashion such as buckles, buttons, snuff boxes, etc., and by 1759 about 20,000 people were involved in the manufacture of 'toys', with 8,000 of them working in the buckle trade. Then in the 1700's buckles began to go out of fashion to be replaced by metal-buttons. For many years a man named John Taylor made a fortune from gliding metal buttons at his factory, first in Crooked Lane off Dale End, and then in Union Street, leaving a private residence in Bordesley, extensive landed estates in Yardley, Sheldon and Coleshill, and a fortune of about £200,000 in his will when he died in 1775. It is interesting to note that this same John Taylor teamed up with a Sampson Lloyd II to form Birmingham's first Bank, Taylor's & Lloyds, now trading as Lloyds T.S.B.

In 1749 another well-known man was taken into partnership in a flourishing Birmingham button making business. This man expanded the business to include all sorts of plated goods, silver, and jewellery, and eventually set-up the Soho Manufactory on Hockley Brook in Handsworth. When he died in 1809 he left £150,000 in his will. His name was Matthew Boulton.

Between 1770 and 1800, twenty-one patents were granted for improvements in the fastening of clothes, nineteen of them originating in Birmingham. During this time it was calculated that each operation was so simple that one button would pass through fifty pairs of hands, and each pair of hands would shift up to 1,000 buttons a day. Even children of 6 or 8 could do many of the jobs and could earn from 10d. to 8/- a week.

Initially buttons were covered with a thin layer of gold leaf, or were plated in a similar way with silver but towards the end of the century a method had been found to dip the buttons which covered the buttons with a minimum layer of precious metal and so was cheaper. However gilt metal buttons were dependant on whims of fashion just as buckles had been before them, and the fashions changed again at the beginning of the Victorian period. Some metal button producers continued to manufacture their products for uniforms and fancy wear, but others changed to the production of brass, jet, ivory, tortoiseshell, pearl, bone, horn, and glass buttons, many of which were then covered with cloth, silk, linen, and also buttons made from 'Corezo Nuts' from Central America. These 'Nuts' were a beautiful white colour, rather like ivory, and they could be easily turned on a lathe and then be dyed in numerous shades.

The button trade employed many people, particularly in the factories where a division of labour was necessary to cover the various processes. However, there was one type of button which could not be produced in this way and that was the pearl button. Parliament had banned the import of pearl buttons at around the end of the 18th century and Birmingham had become an ideal place for pearl button manufacture. The material, which was generally obtained from mother-of-pearl, abalone, and good mollusc shells, was very fragile and so it had to be carefully worked by hand. For this reason the more robust 'yellow-lip' oyster shell from the west coast of Australia was greatly preferred whenever it was available. Because of the fragile disposition of the material the pearl button industry was only to be found in small workshops and these were manned by highly skilled workshop craftsmen and were run by small masters.

Yet other materials started to be used for buttons. It was not unusual to find yards at the back of button manufacturers full of hoof and horn imported from overseas, the whole lot heaving with maggots and smelling vile, and steam would exude from the doorways carrying the same foul smell.

By 1865 machines were beginning to be introduced into the button trade and so only about 6,000 people worked in the various branches of the button trade compared with about 17,000 in 1830, and many of these people were women. Even with machines it still took about 14 girls and women working with incredible rapidity to put together a single button. These buttons were then attached to a piece of card, fourteen buttons on each, and one girl was capable of sewing 3,600 buttons onto cards in one day. Each card was sold at 1d or 1½d each. Pearl buttons however, because of their frailty, continued to be made entirely by highly skilled craftsmen who made up one third of the 6,000 employed in the whole button trade, and who could earn between £2 and £4 a week compared with the 7/- to 9/- a week that the women were earning.
Then, because of increased competition from abroad a group of leading button manufacturers got together in 1908 to form Buttons Ltd. in exactly the same way and for the same reasons that gun manufacturers had formed the B.S.A. Buttons Ltd. operated from two factories, one in Portland Street, Aston, and a smaller one in Warstone Lane in the Jewellery Quarter of Birmingham.

A few of the button makers in Birmingham were:-
Firmin & Sons, Newtown Row, Birmingham 6. (est.1677)
William Dowler & Sons Ltd., 11-15 Brearley Street, Birmingham 19. (est.1774)
Buttons Ltd., Portland Street, Aston (est.1908), and Warstone Lane, Birmingham 18.
George Hook & Sons, Villa Straat, Lozells, Aston.
T. A. Carlyle, Warstone Lane, Birmingham 18
Matthew Boulton, Soho Manufactory, Handsworth, Aston.
John Taylor, Crooked Lane (off Dale End)
W. Elliott & Son
Julius Hardy
